

GERARD EXPECTS TO GET GERMAN REPLY TODAY

Pres. Wilson Will Recall Ambassador at Once if Answer is Not Satisfactory

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Not the slightest doubt is expressed in government circles that, if the reply of Germany to the president's ultimatum is not satisfactory, he will order the immediate recall of Ambassador Gerard and the severance of relations between the United States and the German empire.

It is the further official belief that the president will not delay a minute in resorting to the only alternative permitted in the circumstances.

GERARD EXPECTS REPLY TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Secretary Lansing announced today that a despatch from Ambassador Gerard, dated yesterday, said the ambassador expected to receive today the German reply to the American note demanding immediate abandonment of present practices of submarine warfare.

Secretary Lansing said he was without information of the conference Ambassador Gerard had with Emperor William at grand headquarters. The despatch, Secretary Lansing said, was very brief and contained no indication of the tenor of the German reply. News despatches from Berlin have indicated the German government hoped it would be received favorably.

Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee called on Secretary Lansing and briefly discussed the German and Mexican situations.

"Judging from the newspapers, the tenor of the situation with Germany is very much less than it was," said Senator Stone. "It also appears that they have reached some agreement on the border."

PROTEST AGAINST WAR

Thousands of Messages Pour Into Washington Protesting Against Break With Germany

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Printed form letters protesting against any step which may lead to war with Germany began pouring in by the thousands today upon members of congress as the sequel to the telegraph propaganda which swamped the capital and the telegraph companies last week.

Even the names of the congressmen were printed on the envelopes, and everything gave evidence that the letters had been prepared by thousands and required only written signatures.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Gen. Scott's Report Laid Before Pres. Wilson Said to be Satisfactory—U.S. Troops to Return

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Maj. Gen. Scott's report on his conferences with Gen. Obregon, Carranza's war minister, laid before President Wilson today by Secretary Baker, was characterized by officials as "satisfactory." It is understood to provide for the use of Mexican railways and sets no definite time—such as sixty days—as has been reported, for the withdrawal of Pershing's forces.

While the terms of the tentative agreement will not be made public at least until after a conference between President Wilson and Secretary Baker today, it is understood to provide that American troops shall not go farther south than they now are and will be withdrawn as soon as the Carranza government convinces the United States of its capacity to protect the American border territory. It also provides for cooperation with Carranza troops for cleaning up the bandits. Some slight changes in the agreement as made between Gen. Scott and Gen. Obregon may be made here, but they probably will be unimportant. The indications are that Secretary Baker will recommend to the president the acceptance of the agreement which is described as purely a military one.

After a conference with President Wilson, Secretary Baker said that no announcement on Gen. Scott's report was ready but that the president might issue a statement later. He indicated that a final decision on all points had not been reached but that Gen. Scott would be informed so that he might have another conference with Gen. Obregon.

Formal announcement of the position of the American government will not be given out until Gen. Carranza has had opportunity to pass on the report submitted to him by Gen.

ELLIOTT CAPTURED NEAR SCENE OF DOUBLE MURDER

Man Wanted for the Killing of George A. Pettis and Daughter Found Heavily Armed in Shed at Thompson, Conn.

THOMPSON, Conn., May 4.—John Elliott, a farm hand, sought for two days by posses as the alleged murderer of Miss Sybil Pettis, a school teacher, and her father, George A. Pettis of this town, was captured here early today. A farmer, Roland Mills, found the man heavily armed, in his carriage shed, where he had sought shelter from the rain.

Elliott was captured about a mile and a half from the scene of the shooting. He was in a very weak and exhausted condition, and made no effort to resist arrest. He was apparently in a stupor when Mills discovered him. The latter ran to a neighbor's house about a quarter of a mile away and notified Deputy Sheriff William F. Bates, who took Elliott into custody.

He was accompanied by several armed men.

One of Elliott's eyes was nearly closed, and he was cut about the face and head, indicating it was thought that he may have had a struggle with Pettis before shooting him. He was apparently suffering from exposure and lack of food. It is now believed that at no time was he very far away. He has made no statement of any kind.

When arrested Elliott had on him two automatic revolvers and one of an ordinary type, between fifty and sixty rounds of ammunition and a small sum of money.

The shooting of Miss Pettis and her father occurred Tuesday at the Pettis home. Mrs. Pettis, a witness of the

FRENCH ADVANCING IN VERDUN REGION

Berlin Admits French Have Obtained Foothold in One of the German Advance Posts—More Russian Troops Land in France—British Active

In today's official statement from Berlin admission is made that the French have obtained a footing in one of the German advance positions in the Dead Man hill region. A French attempt on the German lines west of the hill was repulsed.

Activity by the British on the northern end of the Franco-Belgian line also is reported in the German headquarters statement, the principal engagement having been during a futile British attempt to advance northwest of Lens, after mines had been exploded.

French Advance

The French are continuing their counter offensive movement near Dead Man hill in the Verdun region. Following their capture of German positions northwest of the height, announced yesterday, they continued their advance during the night, besides consolidating the positions already taken, according to this afternoon's official bulletin.

No other notable infantry engagements are reported from the western front, but there has been grenade fighting in the Avarcourt wood, southwest of Dead Man hill and heavy artillery bombardments elsewhere in the district west of the Meuse and in the Vaux region, northeast of the fortress.

Additional Russian troops have been landed in France for service on the western front. The fifth contingent to arrive at Marseilles reached that port today.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO ADVANCE IN DISTRICT OF DEAD MAN HILL

PARIS, May 4, 12.15 p. m.—The advance of the French in the district of Dead Man hill on the Verdun front was continued during the night, the war office announced this afternoon. The gains made yesterday were increased and consolidated.

As a consequence of the French artillery preparations at Dead Man hill yesterday, the statement says, two Germans surrendered, stating they were the sole survivors of the men in their trench.

Elsewhere west of the Meuse there was active fighting artillery. An engagement with grenades occurred in Avarcourt wood. In the region of Vaux, east of the Meuse there was an artillery encounter.

French artillery destroyed a munitions depot at Grande Dune, Belgium.

SUSPENSION OF TRANSMISSION OF FUNDS TO FRIENDS IN TURKEY

BOSTON, May 4.—Suspension of the transmission of funds from persons in the United States to friends in Turkey was announced by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions today. The order, which the board expects will be only temporary, was due to the fact that the receipt of a cable from its treasurer, W. W. Peet at Constantinople, directing that no money be received in future for such individual distribution, except to persons connected with the missions of the board. General relief funds are not affected by the order.

Officers of the board said they were unable to understand the reason for the order unless some new condition of affairs had developed in Turkey.

CONNOLLY SPOKE HERE

Irish Rebel Pleaded for Socialist Labor Party at Huntington Hall in 1902

James Connolly, who is now in a hospital in London and who may be executed for his part in the Irish revolt, spoke in Lowell in 1902 in the interest of the socialist labor party, when the following advertisement of his meeting appeared in The Sun:

GRAND MASS MEETING AT HUNTINGTON HALL On Saturday Evening, Oct. 4, '02.

James Connolly, the Representative of Ireland's Socialist Labor Party (Irish Socialist Republican Party), will be the principal speaker. Mr. Connolly, the foremost representative of Socialism in the Emerald Isle, is touring the United States under the auspices of the Socialist Labor Party of America.

COME AND HEAR HIM.

The newspapers at the time said: "In his speech Mr. Connolly pictured conditions in Ireland and claimed that improvement must come, not through home rulers or by force or hatred, but through the principles of social labor."

He evidently changed his mind since making that speech.

NEWS FROM CITY HALL AND THE DEPARTMENTS

Mayor Will Ask B. & M. to Hurry Work on Chelmsford St. Bridge—More Traffic Officers Needed

The very slow progress being made by the Boston & Maine in the construction of a new bridge over the railroad tracks in Chelmsford street is the subject of wide complaint at the present time, and persons, many of whom use the Chelmsford and Westford street cars, have appealed to Mayor O'Donnell, asking him to use his influence to push the work along. The mayor stated today that he would take the matter up with the Boston & Maine authorities.

The Boston & Maine is working only one gang of men on the bridge at the present time and they work only eight hours. One of the men who complained to the mayor was very indignant about the small force of men employed on the job and allowed that no other city in the country would stand for it. "The railroad ought to have three gangs of men employed there," he said, "and they should work day and night. It's ridiculous that the people of Lowell would stand for the slow progress that is being made on that bridge. It interferes with two of the busiest car lines in the city and unless the company is made to get a move on, the job will not be completed before the snow flies. There isn't another city in the country that would stand for it, but the railroad don't seem to take Lowell very seriously."

Strike Happy Medium

Mayor James E. O'Donnell has had several requests for more traffic officers and he has also had requests for night officers on the North and South commons, Alken and Moody streets and Pawtucketville square are included in the places for which traffic officers have been asked, and the mayor stated this morning that he didn't know just what he could do about it. "You must remember," he said, "that members of the municipal council sometimes find themselves between his satanic majesty and the deep sea. It sometimes happens that the very ones who would ask for something, representing considerable expense would be the first to cry to us to keep down expenses. I am going to do my very best to comply with the many requests that have been made, always bearing in mind my appropriation. The public ought not to expect impossible things of me or any other member of the city government. The commissioner of streets has requests or petitions for street lights and other things and he, too, has to watch his appropriation. The best that we can do between the requests for improvement on the one side and the 'keep down' cry on the other is to strike a happy medium and that's what we are endeavoring to do."

The Contagious Hospital

Discussing the matter of the proposed contagious hospital, today, Dr. Charles E. Simpson, state district health officer, said he did not think Lowell ought to build so expensive a hospital as was built by Worcester where the expense was over $2000 a bed. The doctor thinks the city of Lowell ought to build a hospital on the basis of $1000 a bed at the most. He spoke of the building at the state infirmary in Tewksbury and said it had been built at an expense of $600 a bed. He allowed there were conditions there that would tend to reduce the cost, but he thought Lowell ought not to exceed $1000 a bed. As members of the contagious hospital committee are going from house to house inspecting hospitals, Dr. Simpson said it was only a waste of time, adding that the architect was the only one who could inspect hospitals with any degree of understanding.

IN SUPERIOR COURT

VERDICTS RENDERED IN BOSTON & MAINE CASE—SUIT AGAINST BOSTON ELEVATED RAILROAD

The case of Harry J. Swanson vs. Harry Pollard, an action of tort by which the plaintiff seeks to recover alleged damages to his automobile in a collision with the defendant's auto, which went to trial yesterday at the civil session of the superior court, was taken from the jury late yesterday afternoon and a verdict was rendered for the defendant.

A second case on was a double guilt, one of the Metz Co. vs. the Boston & Maine railroad and the other was that of the Frontier Iron Works Co. vs. the Metz Co. In the first case the plaintiff company claimed that the railroad failed to deliver to the company's plant 644 rough castings, which had been shipped by the Frontier Iron Works Co. to the Metz Co. in the second case the Frontier Iron Works Co. sued to recover payment from the Metz Co. for the said castings. The jury reported a verdict of $244.10 in the first case, and $289.50 in the second.

At the opening of this morning's session the case of Martin Conley of Cambridge vs. the Boston Elevated Co. an action of tort in the sum of $2000, was started. In this case the plaintiff claims that on Sept. 30, 1914, his wife, Kate Conley, was severely injured owing to the negligence of a servant of the company in the operation of the trolley through which the woman was passing while entering the Central Square station in Cambridge, said station being in the care of the defendant company. The wife of the plaintiff, it is claimed, has died since the accident, but there is no allegation that death was due to the accident. The Boston Elevated Co. in its answer denies each and all allegations, and states that the wife of the plaintiff was not exercising due care when the accident occurred.

POLICE COURT SESSION

MEN FINED FOR OBSTRUCTING THE SIDEWALK AT THE WATERHEAD MILLS

Vartan Manogian and Apieghm Söy Kiglan, two of the strikers at the Waterhead mills in Lawrence street, were arrested by Patrolman Mark Sullivan and Wallace this morning about 6:30 o'clock while attempting to prevent people from walking through the sidewalk towards the mill. They were sent to the police station where they were charged with obstructing the sidewalk.

The arresting officers, during the course of their testimony stated that there were about 100 people in the vicinity of the plant about 6:30 o'clock and that the defendants were trying to prevent people from walking into the mill yard. The defendants were warned on several occasions not to obstruct the sidewalk, according to the officers, and they refused to obey the orders.

One of the defendants, it was stated, had a stick in his hand, but upon the approach of the officers he placed it under a log. The stick, which was about three feet long was produced in court.

The defendants denied that they were in the way or doing any harm, but the court found the pair guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $20. Judge Enright, through an interpreter, told the men that while they had a perfect right to strike if they saw fit, they had no right to obstruct the sidewalk or prevent others from going to work. Both appealed.

Other Cases

John Platt entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with failing to provide proper support for his three children since the first of the year. Upon promising to do better in the future he was placed in the custody of the probation officer for six months.

A number of drunks were variously disposed of.

MEYER SAYS JAPAN COULD CAPTURE IT IN FEW DAYS—CALLS NAVY INEFFICIENT

BOSTON, May 4.—The Pacific ocean could be captured by Japan in a few days and the commerce of the United States locked up like the commerce of Germany is today because of this country's unpreparedness, according to George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, who spoke last night at a meeting of the American Legion in Ford hall.

With other speakers, including representatives of the state and city, Howard Elliott, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, Roy D. Jones, vice-president, and Dr. E. Hausman, secretary of the American legion, Mr. Meyer made an urgent plea for the United States to hasten itself and awaken a latent patriotism to deeds rather than words.

The meeting unanimously placed itself on record as believing that the question of national defense is the most vital issue now before the people of this country, and enthusiastically resolved:

"That we, the members of the American legion, at our quarterly meeting assembled, urge upon our public officials and representatives in Congress, the necessity of a thorough and expeditious examination into the present condition of the armed forces of this country, and further urge upon such officials and representatives in Congress a speedy enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to enable the United States to successfully resist an armed invasion."

Mention of the name of Theodore Roosevelt—it was mentioned twice—aroused the meeting to loud applause.

Mr. Meyer, who was the last speaker, bitterly arraigned the condition of the country's navy, declaring that the actions and "utterances" of Congress made it inefficient, undermanned and unbalanced.

"We have 32 battleships today," said Mr. Meyer. "Of these, 12 are useless. That leaves 20. Of that number 11 are in the hospital. That leaves

10. Of that number two have got to have their engines done over. That leaves eight. In reality we have only eight first class battleships. And what do we mean by first class? They have a speed of only 23 knots, and their guns may be elevated only 15 degrees.

"More than half of our fleet of destroyers are out of commission. 'We have a submarine fleet, but the less said about it the better.'"

Mr. Meyer spoke of the coast defenses, asserting that the guns were inadequate for protection in event of invasion. He scored the government for lack of armored trains and failure to instruct the railroads what to do in case of war, what are strategic points, etc. He deplored the lack of aeroplanes.

Mr. Elliott dwelt upon the need for awakening the latent patriotism of the country, and referred to the necessity of transportation in time of war.

"The government should have some shape of policy so that railroads could have a 20 per cent. reserve in cars, engines and men and be able to increase trains in war time," he said.

REVOLT IN GERMANY

OUTBREAK THREATENED UNLESS DR. LIEBKNECHT, SOCIALIST, IS RELEASED

BERLIN, May 3, via London, May 4.—A Berlin socialist introduced a resolution in the reichstag today requesting Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg to release Dr. Karl Liebknecht from arrest and to suspend proceedings against him until after the adjournment of the reichstag.

DEMONSTRATIONS SUPPRESSED

LONDON, May 4.—The arrest of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the socialist leader in connection with a May day demonstration in Berlin May 1, caused great excitement among the workers there and led to a fresh demonstration which was suppressed by a large body of police, according to reports from Berlin forwarded from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph Co. The dispatch adds that it is believed the German government will be compelled to release Dr. Liebknecht in order to prevent a revolution. It is stated that he was arrested while addressing a peace demonstration and that it was a violation of the military regulation for him to wear the civilian clothes in which he was arrested as he is a soldier.

GRAND PAGEANT SCENES

American History Beautifully Portrayed at Hathaway's Theatre by School Children

American history was portrayed in gorgeous pageant scenes at Hathaway's theatre in Shattuck street last night, hundreds of school children in costume, presenting events from Columbus to colonial days. The entertainment was held under the auspices of the Spanish War Veterans of this city and Miss Ida Wood of Memphis, Tenn., proved to be an able director.

There were several hundred grammar school children in the presentation of the various scenes. They were costumed in an appropriate manner, and all the participants showed that they had undergone careful training for their parts. Especially good were the younger children.

One of the features was the court of Spain, a scene in which Columbus and Queen Isabella are depicted. In this scene Columbus is seen pleading with Queen Isabella for her sanction to cross the seas in the hope of discovering new land.

The vision of Columbus is a sequel. Here is presented a dream of things to come, yet so vague, so indelible, seemingly so impossible, that Columbus awakens with a start, and is unable to collect himself for a time. It is a dream only. Its effect is seen, however, Columbus believes in dreams, unlike some people, and his dream comes true.

The next number on the program is a scene from Indian life and the Indians are portrayed by girls and boys appropriately costumed. The Indians are good, and the scene is an effective one.

The long and sad journey across the water intervenes, after which is the memorable landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, followed by the festive gathering of colonial children. This concludes the historical pageantry.

Then comes "The Realm of Columbia and Uncle Sam." Boys and girls represent the leading countries of the world, each being costumed in an appropriate manner. This is a very patriotic feature, in which America is described as the only great country of the world beloved by all nations.

In the various numbers appear pupils of all the grammar schools, and they will continue to participate the rest of the week, with occasional changes to give the widest opportunity to the schools to introduce their favorites.

The features will not be entirely the same as upon the opening night. On the contrary, they will be largely new, for certain sets of pupils have been trained for certain parts that will have its explanation tonight, Friday and Saturday nights, with Saturday matinee.

The enterprise is one of the most elaborate ever conceived and carried out in Lowell, as may be judged from the fact that it introduces between 500 and 600 pupils. The proceeds are to be applied to the restoration of property destroyed in the Memorial hall fire. Among the participants and the features last night and to be presented are:

AMUSEMENT NOTES
B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
When you go to the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, and witness the champion orange packers and wrappers and their attendant box makers you will be getting a breath of wonderful Southern California, where the principal industry consists of the raising of oranges, lemons and grape fruit. You will get something of the atmosphere of that fair land. The two young women and the two men, who constitute the act, are literally what they say they are—real champions among the thousands of men and women who are engaged in the orange growing and shipping industry.

Miss Louise Lowell, the champion packer and wrapper, puts 126 oranges into a regulation crate in about a minute and 20 seconds, while Orville Rogers and Leo La Crosse, the champion box makers, hammer together boxes in an incredibly short space of time. La Crosse puts three boxes together, each box of nine pieces, and 54 nails to each one, while Miss Lowell packs another one. If you can imagine the proficiency of these performers then you know something about the way affairs are carried on in California. This act makes one of the greatest of novelties of the current season at the theatre. And there's another headline on the Lapis, this week. He is amiable, courteous, polished and gracious Frank Mullane, a man with a personality that pleases all of the time, and a sweet singer and admirable story teller. All of these attainments are not usually bundled up together in one person, but Mullane has them all. His voice is a delightful tenor. His songs are ballads of the later-day kind, and his stories are witty little bits about Irishmen and Hebrews. No offence can be taken from anything he says, and yet he is decidedly droll. Mullane is wholly delightful. The Saxo sextet is as its name would imply, a collection of saxophone soloists who play modern melodies infinitely. The saxophone, named after Marshal Sax of France, was introduced the middle of the last century, and while it has always been a part of the bands of the French republic it is not generally used in other countries. It possesses a deep, sweet tone, and is especially good in the more biting kinds of music. The Saxo sextet have saxophones of all sizes, from the tenor to the deep bass. The harmonies "made are entrancing, and the accents with much real favor. In "What Happened to Ruth" there is brought forward a speedy little comedy satire which savors of New York, where they are always trying something new. There is one feature of this act which is very unusual, and it must be seen to be appreciated. Kork & Harland, in "Excitations 1890-1920" have a drowsy dancing satire, which is delicious. Falk & Maxson are singers and dancers, and Ollie Young and April, with bubble-blowing and novelty juggling open the

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
With crowded houses at every performance, the Emerson Players are being given a grand sendoff in the closing attraction of the season, "Marrying Money," a comedy with a laugh every second which has caused more favorable talk among the theatregoers of Lowell than any other attraction produced by the popular players since the opening of the season. The demand for seats for the remaining performances, too, is exceptionally big and as the S. R. O. sign is certain to be hung out, wise ones will make reservations early and plan to go as early as possible. Reservations can be made by phoning 221.

Laughter is the keynote of "Marrying Money." The story concerns two young people, a handsome young man and a charming beautiful young lady. Both are what is known as "broke." Each is seeking a wealthy partner. Friends of the young man "sell" him onto the girl. Friends of the girl tell her to wait Vandercloot for that is his name. Fate works with the friends and the young couple elope, despite efforts of the girl's father to prevent it. They go to a nearby hotel and live lavishly. Then the hotel proprietor wants to collect and the deceit is discovered. How they win out and the end comes happily is fully told in a series of brilliant situations which are woven around a set of the most wonderful characters that have ever been seen on any stage.

Herbert Hayes as Theodore Vandercloot is great. Ann O'Day as Mildred Niles is simply superb. Joe Grehan as Jamie Sweeney is funnier than ever while Ted Nannery is a great Lyman Niles. Frank Wright as the count works as if he had played the part for years. Dick Barry is Scogy Well, it's a long name—and he plays the part to perfection. Rachel Brown as Mrs. Niles, Erina Erwin, May Gerald, Paul Courteau, Forrest Gordon and other members of the company handle their various characters in a wonderful manner. The scenic production is indeed superb and the finest that Lowell has seen in many years.

This is "Goodbye week." It is the final appearance in Lowell of the past 25 weeks has offered the theatregoers of this city the greatest line of Broadway.

WINS FOURTH STRAIGHT

Greenhalge's Circuit Clout Decides Lowell Game at Springfield

Zieser in Good Form

Special to The Sun.
SPRINGFIELD, May 4.—Winning or losing, the Ponies have been fighting for every ball game they have started so far in the Eastern league campaign. They have been working away for everything in sight, whether two men were out or not. Yesterday only the luck of the break prevented the Ponies from forcing their opening game with Lowell in the two-game series at League park into an extra inning at least. Managerial moves made the game close as it was but aforesaid break went against the Ponies and Lowell won out, 5 to 3.

Harry Lord brought here the best looking ball club that has yet appeared at League park. It looks so good that the Ponies seem hopelessly out of the running in the early stages of the game. It produced the first home run hitter of the season on the local lot in Catcher Greenhalge. The backstop was the man to put a

SNUBBER GREENHALGE

Lowell due to the game in the second inning, when he drove the ball into the left field fence with Barrows on second. When he followed the circuit clout a few innings later with a double, there was no denying his ability to pick the pill.

Bill Powers began the game and stayed on the mound long enough for Lowell to gather four earned runs off his delivery. Tony Wallace, his successor, lacked control and gave Lowell another counter so that when the nub of the whole situation is reached, the Ponies defeat slimmers down to a matter of pitching. True, the Ponies didn't do much with Matty Zieser, the Lowell boxman, but they made the most of the few opportunities given them.

As a starter for the second inning, Barrows drove a sharp grounder through the box and advanced on Stimpson's sacrifice. Greenhalge got what he wanted and drove the ball over the left field screen for two runs, but Powers refused to let anything more get away from him and the next two hitters drove flies to Parks in right.

One was gone in the Springfield half of the third when Jimmy Stephens doubled to left field. He reached third on Powers' infield drive to Zieser and scored on Hickey's infield single, which Zieser couldn't quite handle.

Powers pulled out of a big hole in the fifth with a brand of pitching in the pinch as has been uncovered this season at League park. Greenhalge and Downey began the inning with a double and single, but Powers settled down and relied the side. Torphy was out on an infield tap to Hammond; Zieser's fly went to Hick and Booe grabbed Kane's long drive.

But good as this play was, it proved only an indication of what was coming in the way of Lowell counters. In the sixth Lord started the rumpus with a single to right. He stole second as Munn struck out and added third on another steal as Barrows was given base on balls. Barrows went down to base on balls. Barrows was made for him and both scored on Stimpson's drive along the first base foul line. Greenhalge didn't come through this time and his best was an infield drive to Murphy. Downey struck out.

The seventh was Springfield's big inning. One man was gone when Barrows reached first on Downey's error. He was forced at second by Stephens, but Egan was sent in as a pinch hitter for Powers and doubled to left field, placing Stephens at third. The return of the ball was poor and Stephens might have scored but he played it safe and stuck at third. When Hick was passed, the base was filled and the rally looked as though it might bring a better victory. The outlook seemed all the better when Booe singled and drove Stephens and Egan across with runs. Parks came up but his best was a grounder to Munn, who threw him out when Zieser came over and covered the bag. Ordinarily, this drive would have gone for a hit but Munn really made a beautiful play on it and choked the rally.

A base on balls, an infield out and Barrows' double in the eighth gave Lowell its final counter. Lord doing the scoring, Stimpson followed with an infield hit, but was caught stealing and Barrows was picked off third by Stephens.

TEXTILE TEAM DROPPED GAME TO ANDOVER ACADEMY BY SCORE OF 5 TO 3

Errors by the Lowell Textile infield were responsible for the Andover academy victory over the local team at Springfield, yesterday afternoon. The Textile boys started off fine by scoring three runs in the first inning, but after that they were unable to find Tracy's delivery. Davis also pitched in good form and besides holding the Andover boys to four hits, struck out nine men.

TO BAR SUNDAY GAMES

REPORTED THAT DETECTIVES ATTENDED LOWELL-NEW HAVEN SLAUGHTER SUNDAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 4.—Alarm is felt that some of the organizations who oppose Sunday baseball are to prevent further games being played in this city. It became known yesterday that private detectives were present at the game played between Lowell and New Haven at Savin Rock Sunday, who jotted down a list of names of many present, including those of the players and umpires. As this was the procedure taken two seasons ago when Sunday games were broken up here, it is assumed that the step is a forerunner to a complaint which will be filed with the West Haven authorities and that warrants will be issued against the players and umpires. The spectators will be called as witnesses to the fact that a game was played. Reports were current last night that similar steps might be taken in Bridgeport. No attempts have been made to begin Sunday professional ball playing in any other Connecticut cities this season.

The New Haven team has planned to play its games on its own grounds at Savin Rock this season. In case it removes to Lighthouse Point for the Sunday games it is not likely to improve its case as the complaints will be made instead to the New Haven court officials, who have no recourse in case warrants are served by the town or city or state police, but to try the cases. Under the law, Sunday ball is clearly prohibited.

The success of the new league lies to a great degree upon its ability to play role of coach at Colby college. Working under the former major leaguer is Jimmy Knox, but he is having his trouble annexing the catching berth. In Ashworth, Colby is said to have one of the best college catchers in the game, hence Knox's inactivity. And this Ashworth must be the real goods when he can keep Knox off the club, for Jimmy is a clever shortstop and can peg with any of them.

Lowell has a formidable ball club well fortified in every department and it would be well for all cities to watch Harry Lord and his cohorts. Lowell has three good backstops in Kilhullen, Lavigne and Greenhalge and a good pitching staff in Green, Zieser, Hank Horsey, Zeke Lohman and King. Kane, Tom Downey, Lord and Torphy in the infield are all fast seasoned ball tossers while Stimpson, Barrows and Joe Briggs make up a hard hitting trio in the gardens. The Splinters are also bound to present a good front in the base running line.

Baseball fans in Chicago will soon be poking their heads out of their office windows, or detailing their office boys to do that little thing, to see if "the flag is up." This will follow the new system to be introduced in the windy city by Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago clubs, whereby flags will be displayed from prominent buildings in the business center of the city, notifying the fans whether the scheduled game for that day will be played.

Instead of smashing his thumb as he closes his desk top with a crash in the race to get to the ball park, only to find that the game is off, the fan will be able to turn leisurely to the office boy and ask:

"Jimmy, will you glance out of the window and see if the flag is flying."

SIX DAY SKATING RACE

NEBES HAS TWO LAP LEAD WITH EVENT HALF OVER—FOURTH PART TO BE STAGED TONIGHT

With just half of the six day race at the Rollaway rink over, Albert Nebes of this city is leading his near opponent, Billy Yale of New Haven, by two laps. Emery, another speedster, is third in the contest and Pasquale, who is now in fourth place, promises that he will show something during the remainder of the week.

The third 30 minutes of the race was attended with unusual enthusiasm. Interest was centered around Nebes and Yale, who are giving a wonderful demonstration of fast roller skating in this race. Both skaters were penalized one lap last night but when the evening's installment concluded the Lowell boy had added another three quarters of a lap to his lead. Yale experienced skate trouble but promises to remedy this for the next race. Pasquale dropped from third to fourth place owing to trouble with his skates.

Though Nebes has a lead which his friends believe he will win, the race is still anybody's and Billy Yale has not yet lost confidence. He thinks that with one good night he can catch up with the leader and then fight it out for the lead on Friday or Saturday night. Both skaters are as speedy as any in New England and have had racing experience that should prove a great benefit in this week's contest. Tonight promises to develop some changes as the three "runners up" will use every effort to catch up with Nebes.

The standing of the men to date is as follows:

Skater	Last Night	Total
Nebes	7	23
Yale	7	23
Emery	7	22
Pasquale	7	21

Fred Tenney's Newark club is hitting up a great winning clip, being tied with the Grays for the lead with a clean slate of four victories. The old boy threatened to play first base for anybody's team, but the former Brown star, in holding down the job very acceptably.

The new ball park at Hopewell in the Virginia league is built on the site of an old battlefield. Along the outfield fence runs a line of breastworks built by General Grant when his army faced that of General Lee. The town population has shown a bad habit of climbing on these old fortifications and looking over the fence, much to the detriment of the pay gate, so it is proposed to level the relic of war days.

After burning 150 gallons of gasoline to get his diamonds in shape for one game, and having the next game postponed because of more dampness, Praxy Britton of the St. Louis Cardinals concluded he might as well buy a tarpaulin to cover his field and made the purchase. Hereafter there will be fewer postponed games at the Cardinal park in St. Louis.

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL

SENATE COMMITTEE ON BILLS REPORTS NEW DRAFT ON TEXTILE SCHOOL APPROPRIATION

Special to The Sun.

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 4.—The senate committee on bills in third reading took a hand yesterday in the controversy over the Lowell Textile school appropriation resolve, and reported a new draft, putting the legislation in practically the same form as that which was passed by the legislature last year.

The latest draft, which will be in the senate calendar this afternoon for a final reading, authorizes the city to appropriate for the purposes of the school, "not exceeding" $10,000; the original draft, reported by the committee on education, required "not less than" $10,000.

The complete draft, as reported by the third reading committee, is as follows:

"Resolved, that there be allowed and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth from the ordinary revenue to the trustees of the Lowell Textile school, the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the maintenance of said school from July 1, 1916, to June 30, 1917; and the sum of fifteen hundred dollars for completing the filling, grading and enclosing of the grounds of the school. The city of Lowell is hereby authorized to make the said appropriation by taxation and pay to said trustees such a sum of money, not exceeding ten thousand dollars, as may be necessary to provide for evening instruction in said school for residents of Lowell."

Pres. Tenney Congratulates Management For Splendid Behavior of Players

Absolutely Pure 100% Turkish Tobacco

You Can Smoke Straights with all the Confidence in the World, Gentlemen

WHAT other manufacturer of cigarettes can show a room like this? It is only a section of one floor, yet on all the other floors of the STRAIGHTS factory you will see the same wonderful appearing workrooms, the same intelligent looking people at work. There are no secrets in The American Tobacco Company's cigarette business. The STRAIGHTS factory is wide open for your inspection. From top to bottom it is full of interest.

IT is always the same — never has to be "fixed up," whether the visitor be a M'Cann or the most humble cigarette smoker. Mr. M'Cann, the arch-enemy of filth and deception in food products, cries to the world — "Cigarette Maker Puts Food Makers to Shame." For no darkness, dirt nor disease lurks in the STRAIGHTS factory — as you can plainly see.

CONSIDER with these methods of manufacture the fact that nothing but Turkish Tobacco is used in STRAIGHTS—Receiving Clerk Boyd's affidavit stating that in all his five years of service he has never seen any but Turkish tobacco from bonded warehouses and bearing the original Turkish markings come into the STRAIGHTS factory; General Manager Vale's affidavit attesting to this fact, and finally, Vice-President O'Brien's statement, breathing confidence from beginning to end, that the public, once they smoked STRAIGHTS, will know that it is the millennium in ten-cent pure Turkish cigarettes and will appreciate it as such.

CONSIDER, furthermore, the pictures and affidavits which we printed in previous advertisements, all to acquaint you with the care with which The American Tobacco Company purchases the leaf in Turkey and examines and re-examines it—the novel Blending Board which patiently tests the different crops in order to maintain the general excellence of the blends—all these various processes of manufacture to convince you that it is only reasonable to expect the satisfying smoke which STRAIGHTS give you—equalled nowhere at the price.

REMEMBER we want everyone who can to visit the STRAIGHTS factory, 337-347 West 27th Street, New York City. A postal with your name and address will bring the cards of invitation promptly.

The total amount borrowed at a vote of the annual town meeting was $55,000. Bids were received for the construction and equipment of the building some time ago but they were not taken because the amount appropriated for the building and second bids were called for.

The high school will be of brick construction and will contain 14 rooms. There will be no assembly hall. The land on which the building is to be erected was formerly the Timothy Adams land which was purchased by the town two years ago. The land was cleared for the erection of the high school this year.

GRASS AND RUBBISH FIRES
Scores of permits for the building of grass and rubbish fires have been issued through the office of the chief of the fire department during the past several weeks. Almost as large a number of permits have been issued from the office of the water board at city hall, where permits can be received if more convenient than going to the central fire station.

Owing to the weather conditions this spring the number of grass fires has been comparatively small and the recent heavy rains have resulted in a abundance of green grass which is not susceptible to fire as the dry brown grass.

No Prospect of Immediate Settlement in New York

NEW YORK, May 4.—About 65,000 workers on women's garments are on strike today with no prospect of immediate settlement. The union leaders say that 2317 shops have been closed and that the strike is the largest in the history of the industry. The strikers are receiving offers of settlement from some of the manufacturers who are not members of the Manufacturers' Protective association.

The demands of the strikers, made public today, are for a working week of 48 hours instead of 50; ten legal holidays a year instead of six; overtime of more than two hours a day; double pay for overtime work; a general wage increase of $2 to $2.50 a week; settlements to be made by joint price committees; sanitary shops and a fair division of the work.

QUIT AT PITTSBURGH
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 4.—Strikes plants at Braddock, where strikers have been in operation, were working with full forces today, and not a picket was in sight. Cavalry patrols covered the Turtle Creek valley towns, but the infantry was held in temporary barracks in East Pittsburgh.

TO ADJUST DIFFERENCE
NEW YORK, May 4.—A movement to adjust the difference between the New York Central and Nickel Plate railroads and their 5000 telegraph operators and signalmen on lines between New York and Chicago, was begun here today. G. W. W. Hanger, assistant commissioner of the federal board of mediation and conciliation had a talk over the telephone with H. B. Perham, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers and A. T. Hardin, a vice president of the New York Central planned to call on Mr. Hanger later at his home.

Hanger said he was here only passively, awaiting requests by either side for his services and that if none should be made during the day he would so inform the federal board in Washington, with which decision would rest as to whether he was to take an active part in bringing about an understanding.

CARMEN ACCEPT OFFER
CLEVELAND, O., May 4.—Motor men and conductors of the Cleveland Railway Co. voted 1123 to 436 early today to accept the company's compromise wage offer thus averting a strike.

The terms as accepted by the men call for a wage increase of two cents an hour, effective at once with an additional one cent increase May 1, 1917. The first year men have been getting, 23 cents an hour and the others 32 cents.

STRIKE IN MANCHESTER, N. H.
MANCHESTER, N. H., May 4.—Building operations on two of the largest enterprises in this city are at a standstill. A labor strike is in force at the Pillsbury apartments at Pennacook and Elm streets, and at the Polish church on Pearl street.

The strike, which began May day, shows no sign of settlement. The strikers are masons and plasterers who have been getting $1 a day for their work and they want $1.50. As both the Pillsbury and the Polish church are cement stucco structures, the strike not only prevents work on the inside plastering and brick, but also the entire outside finish of the buildings. Upward of 50 men are involved.

The principal mason contractors involved are Elmer E. Reed and James Charney, both of whom have been employing only union help.

PAWBUCKET, R. I., May 4.—The United States Fish Commission, with branches in this city and Providence, announced an advance of 10 per cent. in wages to all employees earning $12 per week or less.

The increase will affect about 3000 persons and is in addition to a 5 per cent. advance granted in January.

FRENCH MINISTER CALLS FOR LOAN

FOUND FOR DEFENDANTS

REINIKER CASE WENT TO U. S. COURT BECAUSE PLAINTIFF IS CITIZEN OF FINLAND

After four days of actual trial in the district court of the United States at Boston, Judge Morton presiding, a jury, yesterday afternoon, found for the defendants in the case of Julius Reiniker against Sergeant of Police Bartholomew Ryan and Patrolman Patrick Sullivan of Lowell. The case was reported briefly in The Sun yesterday.

The arrest out of which the suit grew was made on the night of October 28, 1914, it seems that Reiniker, who was under the influence of liquor, was making things lively at his home off Charles street, but it was not until he was taken in the street and the officers tried to avoid an arrest. They took him home twice and it was the second time home that Reiniker, who had been in the street, near his home he struck Patrolman Sullivan and then ran into the house. The officers followed him in and Reiniker gave them battle in the kitchen. They had to use their clubs to subdue him and in the fight that ensued, Reiniker was injured and things were turned upside down. The officers called for the patrol wagon and Reiniker was taken to the police station.

Later Reiniker was arraigned in police court on the charge of drunkenness and was found guilty. Then he sued for assault and false imprisonment. He asked for damages in the amount of $3500, alleging that his injuries developed deafness, dizziness, headaches and nervous disturbances. He said he was not drunk and that he was not given an opportunity to get either an interpreter or counsel to assist him in his defense. He also claimed that he did not offer any resistance when arrested, that there was no glass broken in his kitchen windows and that he was unable to go to work for three weeks after the rough handling given him by the officers.

The defense, however, succeeded in battering down about all of the formidable things that Reiniker put up. Their first step was to produce the interpreter that he had in police court and they further showed that the interpreter had been in Boston with Reiniker for the purpose of engaging a certain lawyer there to defend Reiniker in police court. They were unable to get the lawyer they wanted and just for that Reiniker went to trial without counsel.

To prove that there were panes of glass broken in the kitchen window, the defendants produced the man who replaced the glass. Then they tackled Reiniker's testimony relative to the three weeks of idleness as the result of his scrap with the officers and produced Reiniker's boss in the mill who stated that Reiniker was out one week in consequence of this.

The reason that the case was taken to the United States district court was because the complainant, Reiniker, was a citizen of Finland suing citizens of the United States. The jury found that Reiniker was drunk when he was taken into the street and that he was the aggressor in the fight. The jury also found that the alleyway in which the arrest was first attempted was a public place and that the officers had the right to arrest Reiniker for intoxication even though he had been in the street for some time. City Solicitor Harold A. Varnum and William A. Hogan appeared for the defendants and J. Alfred Anderson of Boston for the plaintiff. If appeal is taken the case will go to the United States court of appeals.

PLOT TO SINK VESSELS

FAY DENIES GERMAN OFFICIALS INVOLVED—RIGOROUS EXAMINATION

NEW YORK, May 4.—Although subjected to a rigorous cross-examination during this morning's session of his trial, Lieut. Robert Fay could not be shaken from the essential details of the narrative he related yesterday. Fay, together with Walter Scholz and Paul Daech, is being tried in the federal district court here on the charge of conspiring to blow up merchant ships.

Fay reiterated his assertion of yesterday that he had come to this country as a deserter from the German army. He denied that German authorities had taken any part in the alleged plot to sink merchant ships by the aid of a rudder-bomb which he invented. Fay declared that most of the statements he made to the police had been constructed out of whole cloth on the promise being made to him that he would not be prosecuted.

It would close probably tonight and the case may go to the jury tomorrow.

MEXICAN SITUATION

made an agreement which would not have been acceptable to his chief. The agreement provides for the co-operation of American troops and Carranza soldiers in clearing northern Mexico of bandits. Mexican railroad will be utilized for the transportation of supplies for the American troops. While no time limit is set for the withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico that will be done as soon as there are definite indications that American border towns are no longer in danger of attack.

Officials characterized the agreement as "satisfactory" but would not state whether every detail was acceptable.

U. S. TROOPERS CHARGED

WITH KNIVES IN TEETH

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, April 29, via motor courier to Columbus, N. M., May 3.—There was much excitement, and some of the Americans went up the mountainside with knives in their teeth during Col. George A. Dodd's battle with Villista bandits on April 22 at Temohoch.

"It was the devil's own playground," was Col Dodd's description of the terrain of this battle in southwestern Chihuahua among lowering mountains, where 160 bandits sought refuge.

For two hours Dodd's troops of the Seventh Cavalry fought from an immense hollow with bandits on three sides, charging deliberately over ground marked with bullet puffs in the dust all about their feet, where the Mexicans had their exact range. They accounted for at least 50 bandits killed or wounded, against an American loss of two dead and three wounded.

Two nights before this fight the Americans overtook the bandits at the Yoquimil mine, telling the natives stories of how they claimed to have shipped the Americans at Columbus and Guadalupe, showing big lumps of gold and silver taken from Mexican towns, which they asserted were spoils of war.

Shortly before midnight an outpost ran in breathless, exclaiming: "The Americans are coming in!"

Scored and horns leaped through the freight, bugles blew and the minutes the whole bandit command had galloped out of town. When the cavalrymen came in they found two American mining men, a Mr. Seyferth and another, who had paid $2000 ransom for their release.

These Americans said the bandits were led by Candelero Cervantes, Jesus Deleyers, Cruz Dominguez and Manuel Baca, who was killed by a Mexican the following Sunday after the fight.

Among them were followers of Julio Acosta and Gen. Beltrán. The remnants of all the best known Villista commanders' veterans, and at that time at least, the last known band of Villista men whose nerve had not been shaken by defeats at Columbus, Guerrero Negro and Guadalupe.

Saturday afternoon at 4:30 Dodd's men, arriving at the southern rim of the hills forming the cup in which the town of Temohoch lies, saw the rear guard of bandits riding out of town. Ahead of them they saw the main body waiting in the rocks to give battle. The machine guns were placed to sweep this range while the Americans rode down into the cup in pursuit.

They dismounted in town, advancing on foot with rifles ready, led by Troop L and accompanied by the two guides. With the machine guns they placed to hit and mortally wounded. The bullet came from the flank of a cave in a mountain overlooking Temohoch. Out of a big adobe chimney the troops pulled a sniper, the only one caught in the place.

Behind the town Troop L advanced to within range of the crests above. They crossed the range in short rushes, lying down and firing, then advancing a few yards.

Col. Dodd, with his staff, rode through the zone of fire, while bullets fell within a yard or two of every man until they reached a knoll beyond the town. From here Dodd directed the fight. Another machine gun was brought up close to play on the force at the crest in front of the knoll. Out along the American line a trooper lay on his stomach firing. His enemy was a bulge, but seemed in front of him, then another popped 20 feet ahead of him. In a moment more a third ball struck him in the head, killing him. A lieutenant lying among his men directing the fire, was wounded.

Behind the Americans had gotten the range of the Mexicans on the crest and checked their fire. Several freshly made graves on this crest, found next day, testified to the Americans' aim. One Mexican leader on a gray horse rode into sight on the skyline half a dozen times, but seemed to be bullet-proof. His gray mount was the last living object the Americans distinguished before darkness ended the fighting. This horse was found wounded next day at Santo Tomas, where Manuel Baca, the Villista leader, was taken to a hospital.

A detachment of the Sixth Infantry under Lieut. Wetherell and guided by Holly sent out on the morning of the 25th to run down the Villa band, dispersed the bandits, wounding two men whom they captured.

Holly stayed at the ranch that night. The next morning his body and that of his foreman were found.

The despatch did not state whether Holly was an American.

SUNK 13 YEARS AGO

PLANS FOR SEARCHING THE BOTTOM OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY FOR THE CLYDE LINER

BOSTON, May 4.—For the purpose of searching the bottom of Massachusetts bay for the remains of a steamer which was sunk in collision 13 years ago, Edward Wallace, an expert submarine diver of this city, is fitting out the schooner Eddio Minor.

It is Mr. Wallace's intention to raise the vessel if possible, and if not to at least salvage enough metal and other material to more than pay for the expedition.

The sunken steamer is the Clyde liner Klovra, which went down Dec. 26, 1903, between Thieves' Ledge and Harding's following a collision with the steamer Admiral Dewey. Up to the present time scarcely anything has been saved from the sunken boat. The underwriters gave up hope of saving the Klovra some years ago, and an insurance company of the vessel has been adjusted long since.

HELD ANNUAL BANQUET ARRESTED IN DUBLIN, IRE.

GEORGE F. MAGUIRE
Chairman Banquet Committee.

JOHN H. BURKE
President

Enjoyable Social Event by the Lowell Grocers' and Butchers' Association at Harrisonia Hotel

In the main dining room of the Harrisonia hotel last evening the Lowell Grocers and Butchers with their families enjoyed their annual banquet. The hall was well filled and the party was divided in groups at a number of tables that gave the assembly the appearance of a dining room made up of many small parties. It was an agreeable change from the long tables usually seen at such banquets. The reception committee, Messrs. Edward M. Bowers, Edward Fitzpatrick and Alanson Gray were right on their job and received the guests with all due ceremony. Gray's orchestra discoursed lively music during the evening and availed of the fine opportunity in the waits between courses to display its ability.

After the select menu had been disposed of about 10 o'clock, Mr. Geo. F. Maguire, chairman of the banquet committee, called to order and introduced President John H. Burke as toastmaster. Mr. Burke in a brief address of welcome expressed his pleasure at seeing so many members of the association present and especially at the attendance of so many of the ladies. He wished to open the exercises by asking the audience to join in singing America with orchestral accompaniment.

Mayor O'Donnell

The first speaker introduced was His Honor, Mayor O'Donnell, who was very cordially received.

His Honor spoke in a humorous vein, referring to his physical condition as that of an athlete who has to do considerable running. He had almost despaired of qualifying for the May Men's banquet which comes next Monday night. He had appointed his friend, Jackson Palmer, Esq., on a waterways committee and Jackson has been running after him ever since.

He was glad to extend to the association the greetings of the city of Lowell, a city enjoying perhaps the greatest degree of prosperity in her history; a prosperity in which all may share. He referred to the mills and the factories working with full force,

Jas. Sullivan, Former American Minister, Charged With Complicity in Revolt.

LONDON, May 4, 3.13 p. m.—James M. Sullivan of New York, formerly American minister to Santo Domingo, has been arrested in Dublin on the charge of complicity in the Irish rebellion.

CONNOLLY IS ALIVE

Dispatch from Dublin Announces But Three Rebel Leaders Shot—McNeill Missing

DUBLIN, May 3 (Delayed)—Justice has been swift in the case of the leaders of the Sinn Féin rebellion. Three of the ringleaders who signed the proclamation of the short-lived Irish republic, paid the supreme sacrifice this morning. They were Patrick H. Pearce, the scholarly president of the provisional government; Thomas MacDonagh and Thomas J. Clarke. Their death sentences were pronounced by the field general court martial and were duly confirmed by the highest authorities.

Connolly in Prison

Of the other signatories, James Connolly is lying in prison wounded. Sean MacDiarmid, Eamonn Ceannt and Joseph Plunkett are somewhere in Ireland, whether free or captured is not publicly known.

The people busy, contented and happy, adding that the advantage and privileges that can be offered by any of our size in the country. He paid a high compliment to the Grocers' and Butchers' association as filling an important place in the activities of the community. In conclusion he wished the association and its members continued prosperity, knowing as he did that by their enterprise they fully deserve it.

Edward Fitzpatrick

Past President Edward Fitzpatrick spoke for the association. He stated that the stores conducted by the members of the association are kept up to as high a standard in cleanliness, sanitary conditions and general efficiency as those of any city in the United States. He said the organization had been incorporated 20 years ago and few of the charter members are left, although he could mention one still active in Mr. O. B. Randle. The association maintains a legislative agent to oppose laws that would be detrimental to the business and to the public. He felt that these social events do much good in bringing the members into more friendly relations and letting the public know just what the organization represents.

Henry W. Mansfield

Mr. Henry W. Mansfield, secretary of the Massachusetts Provision Dealers' association, was the next speaker. He told what is being done to equalize food standards throughout the United States for the benefit of the public and the convenience of the dealers. He cited the single item of vinegar as an example of the work. At present the standard of vinegar is higher in Massachusetts than is required by the agricultural department of the federal government. A bill is before the legislature to have the standard changed from 4-1-2 to 4 per cent and he hoped it would become law. Representative Victor Jewell, he said, assisted the association in pushing the measure. At present the dealers have endless trouble in ascertaining the precise standard of the article. With a uniform standard they could purchase anywhere without risk of being haled into court for violation of law on a mere technicality. He gave many instances in which he said the merchant grocers are unjustly compelled to pay for the sealing of weights and measures which is done for the public benefit. He mentioned reductions that had been secured for sealing molasses and oil pumps.

He referred to the enforcement of the closing laws on Sundays, to the opposition to fake advertising and hawkers and peddlers. He advised the dealers to appeal to the state police if the local police under Chief Welch failed to do their duty. He complimented David Gorow and Alanson Gray for their readiness to go out and fight for the interests of the dealers.

Supt. Welch

Supt. Welch when called upon remarked that he didn't know exactly whether it was his prominence as a police official or his capacity as a speaker that caused him to be invited to such social affairs.

He replied to Mr. Mansfield's instruction that he might care to bring in the state police here by alleging that the state police would regard a complaint relative to Lowell as a huge joke. Lowell, he said, is a crime-ridden city. You hear of no hold-ups, no burglaries, no serious crimes of any kind and it was by running down the crap shooters and other minor offenders that the more serious crimes are prevented. He believed in removing the causes of crime and catching the offenders in the initial acts. He then gave a description of how the third degree work is conducted, but made no reference to finger prints.

Secretary Murphy

Secretary John H. Murphy made a neat and appropriate speech dealing with the origin and aims of the association, its various lines of usefulness and its importance in the community. As usual of course Mr. Murphy gave Lowell a boost and wound up with this quotation:—

"Wherever record of men you find who've served their country or their kind: With sword or pen or hand or heart Lowell has done an honorable part. By the busy mills which hum and sing By the engine's stroke or anvil's ring It is in fire and steel and wood Art is the handmaid of human good."

During the course of the evening there were songs by James Roane, Frank P. McCartin, Patrick Nevin, Jackson Palmer and Commissioner Donnelly, all well known and popular vocalists.

The banquet committee consisted of Messrs. Geo. F. Maguire, chairman, John McCullough, John P. Curley, John J. Sullivan, Henry Dunham, John H. Burke, Edward Fitzpatrick, Alanson Gray and Edward M. Bowers. The officers of the Lowell Grocers' and Butchers' association are: John H. Burke, president; John McCullough, secretary, and Edward M. Bowers, treasurer.

Doyle's Orch., Princeton club, Friday.

The other ringleaders in custody in Ireland are now being tried with great rapidity by the central court-martial while the local courts-martial are dealing with minor rebels in various districts. The Associated Press correspondent saw a batch of the prisoners leaving one of the courts after being sentenced. Some of them spoke to the members of their escort as they marched away and unless their every appearance was forced, they evidently had escaped with more lenient punishment than they had expected. The general public was not aware of the execution of the ringleaders until late this evening, and it was not possible to observe the effect of their punishment upon the citizens of Dublin, who, however, for the vastly greater part were not in sympathy with the rebellion.

More Snipers Captured

Further captures of isolated snipers occurred today in the outlying quarters of the capital, and orders were issued by Maj. Gen. Sir John Maxwell that any rebels found with arms should be severely dealt with. Very few shots have been heard in the city since Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, when a government boat passing down the Liffey river was fired upon and sharp salvos from machine guns in the vicinity of Rathmines alarmed people in the neighborhood.

McNeill is Missing

Everybody is asking what has become of John McNeill, the local organizer of the Sinn Féiners who seems to have disappeared from Dublin with the firing of the first shot. Another man in whose fate great interest is manifested is The O'Reilly. It is now reported that his body was found among the debris of the general post-office.

Confidence is rapidly returning among the civilian population and although work has not been generally resumed, many stores have been reopened.

The government requisitioned all the food supplies in stock on its arrival at the quays, and ample food was furnished to the poorer people at three depots, opened at the Northwestern quay, the shell factory and Rathmines.

Further Casualties

From these stores food was supplied to the shops at prices prevailing before the rebellion on condition that they be sold to the public at similar rates, and the west of Ireland are at present the only places where disturbances are rife and these are being sharply suppressed. Some further casualties are reported among the troops. Though the young soldiers are performing their duty under the severest conditions of warfare, many of them having had only a few months' training, they are displaying the most bravery, never hesitating to advance under the hottest fire.

Most Surrender All Arms

In several parts of Ireland the Sinn Féin organization did not take part in the outbreak, but as they possess huge quantities of arms and ammunition, they are being closely watched. Orders were issued today demanding that they immediately surrender all their arms, and in case these bodies of illegal semi-soldiers do not comply with the order very effective steps are to be taken against them by the military authorities, who are aware that for two years past Ireland has been turned into a gigantic arsenal by persons who had no right to possess arms.

A provisional postal service has been established in Dublin where letters are now arriving from the provinces and from England, but no outgoing mail service yet has been organized and it is impossible to obtain postage stamps.

Prisoners in Cellar

The authorities have acquired premises in the city to replace the general postoffice which was destroyed during its occupation as a rebel headquarters. This afternoon two British soldiers were found badly scorched in the cellar of one of the buildings which had been held by the rebels. They had been taken prisoners early in the rebellion and did not know that it had been suppressed.

The building, which is near the Colliseum, had been set on fire by the Sinn Féiners before they evacuated it. The soldiers were much exhausted, but are expected to recover.

CAUSES OF IRISH REVOLT

LONDON, May 4.—In the house of commons today Premier Asquith promised that he would make a statement next week on the causes of the Irish revolt.

The premier said that it was not desirable to say anything more at the moment than that all appropriate steps were being taken to deal with the Irish rebellion and those responsible for it. Asked whether the rebels would be tried by court martial or by a civil tribunal, the premier stated that he had

CASE OF IRISH REBELS

Mr. Redmond Pleads for Leniency—Sec. Birrell's Statement—Ginnell Denounces the Government

LONDON, May 4.—Laurence Ginnell, member for the North Division of Westmeath, who follows the leadership of no party, greeted the announcement of the premier in the house of commons that "some of the leaders of the Irish rebellion had been shot, with the cry, 'Ginnell! Ginnell!' Some minutes he prevented Augustine Birrell from making a personal statement, and gave notice that he would move a resolution calling attention to the shooting of "innocent men by this Hunnish government."

Redmond Pleads for Leniency

John Redmond said that the whole business in Ireland had been to him a misery and a heartbreak. He paid warm tribute to Mr. Birrell. He felt that "he himself had incurred some of the blame which Mr. Birrell had laid at his own door."

The nationalist leader concurred in the view that the danger of an outbreak was not a real one, and perhaps what he had said in conversation might have influenced Mr. Birrell.

While approving the vigorous quelling of the rebellion, Mr. Redmond begged the government to not show undue harshness to the great mass of "unfortunate dupes involved."

All England was astir last night over the news of the execution of the three rebel leaders. Premier Asquith yesterday notified parliament that all three were signatories to the document proclaiming the Irish Republic. The three other signatories, S. MacDiarmid, E. Ceannt and Joseph Plunkett, the prime minister added, were sentenced to three years in prison because of extenuating circumstances.

MICHIGAN COAL MINES

The production of coal in Michigan in 1915 was 1,156,133 short tons, valued at $2,372,797. In 1914 it was 1,283,030 tons, valued at $2,559,738. The average value per ton in 1915, $2.05, was 6 cents greater than in 1914, $1.99, and exceeds any record for the state in recent years. Coal consumption in Michigan is increasing every year, but coal from other states supplies a large part of this market, and the decrease in output in the Michigan field last year, which amounted to 126,822 tons, is attributed by the United States geological survey to the fact that there were 2560 men employed in the coal mines of the state in 1915 and they worked for an average of 135 days. In 1914 the number of employees was 2500, and the average number of days each man worked was 261.

The Hard-Headed Business Man

Insists on a high degree of "fitness" in his employees.

That means proper co-ordination between brain and body, and for its best realization there must be care in the matter of food.

A well-balanced diet is essential, one easily digestible and rich in nerve-building material. Very often the result of improper food is seen in indigestion, "brain-fag," nervousness and general inefficiency.

Grape-Nuts

a delicious food made of whole wheat and malted barley, is admirably adapted for brain workers; for included in its rich nutriment, are the vital mineral elements—phosphate of potash, etc., grown by Nature in the grains.

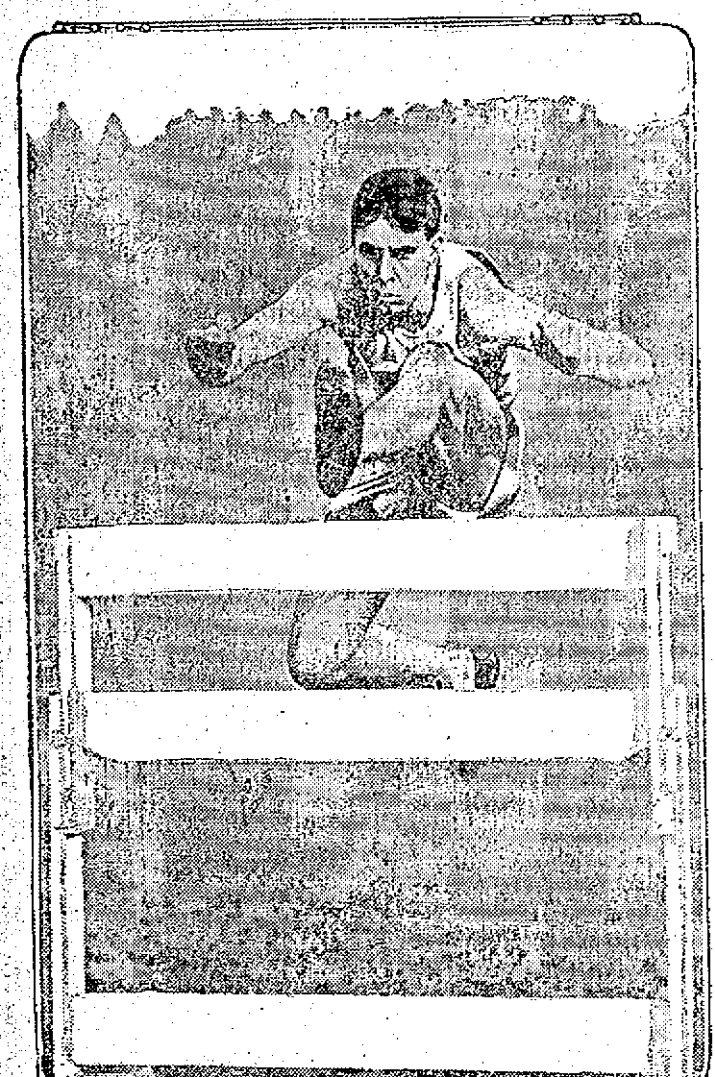

These mineral elements are absolutely essential to well-balanced bodies, brains and nerves, but are often lacking in much of the food that goes to make up the usual dietary.

A daily ration of Grape-Nuts along with other food is just the thing to put one in fine fettle.

SIMPSON'S MARVELOUS PERFORMANCE STILL TALK OF EXPERTS

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—Athletic experts are still talking over the recent Penn relay games here. The smashing of the world's record for the two and four mile relay races, which were won by Yale and Cornell respectively, will go down in history as remarkable events. But the event which created the most talk was the 120 yard high hurdle event on the grass won by R. Simpson of Missouri university. Simpson, flying like a swallow with his swooping stride over the top flights of high hurdles, finished in the marvelous time of 15 seconds flat. As the event was on grass his time was two-fifths of a second faster than the best previous world's record. However, an argus eyed official noted that Simpson had tipped over his second hurdle, far down the line, though he slipped over all the others cleanly. This, according to collegiate procedure, robbed him of a world's record.

The government concluded its presentation of evidence yesterday. Fay was the first to take the stand. He denied that he had any thought of destroying munitions ships but said that he thought it would be "a good joke" to fix the rudder of ocean steamships so that outside of the

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and colonel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action, and then a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

FAT MEN'S CLUB

Joe Hibbard and One Other Boast of Wooden Leg

BOSTON, May 3.—Probably the largest social gathering of the month in Boston was held last evening at the Revere house, the occasion being the monthly meeting of the Massachusetts members of the United States Fat Men's club. About 3000 pounds were present, or, as some might say, 125 members weighing on an average 245 pounds each. Among those who graced the gathering were the two contenders for the running and boxing championships of the club, Geo. L. Thompson of Somerville, and Joseph Hibbard of Lowell, both of whom boast of possessing wooden legs (one each). The biggest personage in the massive group was Dr. Herbert C. Penny, who complacently admits that he weighs 470 pounds without his cane. According to the chef the repast served to this mighty host was a "buffet lunch." The chef has a fine sense of proportion as well as marked skill in catering. Alexander J. McGregor and ex-Mayor Wardwell of Cambridge were the orators of the evening. Both spoke on topics of particular interest to fat men. Three candidates for membership were initiated at the conclusion of the "buffet lunch" and their names will be announced after their recovery.

HEARINGS AT CITY HALL

EVIDENCE HEARD IN THREE CASES COMING UNDER THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

Two hearings and a conference under the Workmen's Compensation act were held in the mayor's reception room at city hall today. The first case was called this forenoon and was completed this afternoon. It had to do with Louis Laferre, who was injured while in the employ of the U. S. Cartridge company on Oct. 28, 1915.

Read in Conference

The case of Hattie Gillen who was injured while in the employ of the Merrimack Milling company on the first day of October, 1915, was scheduled for a conference rather than a hearing. The petitioner was sweeping the floor when she was accidentally bumped into by another employee. She was knocked down and sustained a fracture of the left wrist. The Travelers' Insurance company allowed her $4 a week for a certain period, but the compensation was cut off before she was able to return to work and she petitioned for further compensation. The insurance company was represented at the conference today by Arthur A. Driscoll of Boston and James Hearn, who assisted the employee by writing letters to the Industrial Accident board and arranging for the conference, represented her today. SEN. TILLMAN MAKES PUBLIC LETTER TAKING ISSUE WITH SEC. DANIELS — LODGE DEFENDS FISKE

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske's letter to the senate taking issue with Secretary Daniels for the latter's statement that he never had been furnished a copy of Admiral Fiske's letter warning the department of the unprepared state of the navy in 1914, was made public today by Chairman Tillman of the naval committee.

SEN. TILLMAN MAKES PUBLIC LETTER TAKING ISSUE WITH SEC. DANIELS — LODGE DEFENDS FISKE

Senator Lodge, defending Admiral Fiske, said he thought an injustice had been done the naval officer. The secretary of the navy has been at several occasions," he said. "To attack Admiral Fiske, Admiral Fiske is an officer of the highest rank. He has had an unblemished career in the navy. He has engaged in no guerrilla warfare, but has only the desire that is the right of every honest man to protect his own reputation."

SEN. TILLMAN MAKES PUBLIC LETTER TAKING ISSUE WITH SEC. DANIELS — LODGE DEFENDS FISKE

In his letter Admiral Fiske referred to Secretary Daniels' statement to the senate, saying he had never been furnished a copy of the Fiske unpreparedness letter and expressing great surprise to learn that such a communication had been read by the committee. "The statement constitutes an accusation against me of a grave breach of official propriety—an attempt to conceal an important letter from the secretary, while as a matter of fact I was always scrupulously careful never to permit him to receive or to remain under any mistaken impression, or to be in ignorance of any important matter, if I could prevent him."

WORLD'S EXPORT TRADE

LEGISLATION TO ENCOURAGE U. S. BUSINESS MEN TO CAPTURE SHARE FAVORED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Legislation to encourage American business men to capture a share of the world's export trade by removing artificial laws to the application of anti-trust laws to export business was recommended today in a report of the federal trade commission. The commission said its investigation into foreign trade conditions has established the fact that doubt as to the application of the anti-trust laws to export trade now prevents competitors of American business men in export trade from competing on a level playing field.

WORLD'S EXPORT TRADE

In view of this fact," the report says, "and of the conviction that co-operation should be encouraged in export trade among competitors as well as non-competitors, the commission recommends that enactment of declaratory laws to remove the doubt. The commission feels it would fall of its duty if it did not urge the pressing need of such action immediately."

GERARD EXPECTS TO GET GERMAN REPLY TODAY

Pres. Wilson Will Recall Ambassa-

Not Satisfactory

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Not the slightest doubt is expressed in government circles that, if the reply of Germany to the president's ultimatum is not satisfactory, he will order the immediate return of Ambassador Gerard and the severance of relations between the United States and the German empire.

It is the further official belief that the president will not delay a minute in recalling the only alternative permitted in the circumstances.

GERARD EXPECTS REPLY TODAY

M. E. CHURCH CONFERENCE

Income for Missionary Work
Would be $10,000,000 if Each
Member Contributed Five Cents

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., May 4.—The income of the Methodist Episcopal church available for missionary work in foreign countries would amount to more than $10,000,000 annually if each member would contribute weekly a sum equivalent to a single street car fare, according to a report submitted today to the general conference now in session here, by Dr. Earl S. Taylor, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions.

Discussion of church activities in other lands was a special order of business today.

Although the board of foreign missions last year expended $1,700,573, the amount per capita is so insignificant, the report continued, that no piece of money in the United States is sufficient by small to permit of its payment in weekly installments.

The women of the denomination who conduct their missionary work through another department contributed $331,000. The speaker asserted this amount would be doubled if every Methodist woman would join a missionary society and pay 10 cents a week in dues.

There is need of larger gifts from church members is urgent, it was said, because of conditions resulting from the European war.

The advocates of public hearings before the committee on Episcopacy on all matters incident to the determination of the number of bishops to be elected by the conference won a slight victory. For many years this question has come before the general conference, those who favored open sessions claiming that existing methods of procedure were of the "star chamber" order.

Rev. Thomas Nicholson, chairman of the committee on Episcopacy, moved today that the conference authorize executive sessions of the committee. A warm debate was precipitated immediately.

Activity by the British on the northern end of the Franco-Belgian line also is reported in the German headquarters statement, the principal engagement having been during a futile British attempt to advance northwest of Lens, after mines had been exploded.

French Advance

The French are continuing their counter offensive movement near Dead Man hill in the Verdun region. Following their capture of German positions northwest of the height, announced yesterday, they continued their advance during the night, besides consolidating the positions already taken, according to this afternoon's official bulletin.

No other notable infantry engagements are reported from the western front, but there has been grenade fighting in the Avocourt wood southwest of Dead Man hill and heavy artillery bombardments elsewhere in the district west of the Meuse and in the Vaux region, northeast of the fortress.

Additional Russian troops have been landed in France for service on the western front. The fifth contingent to arrive at Marseilles reached that port today.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO ADVANCE
IN DISTRICT OF DEAD
MAN HILL

PARIS, May 4, 12:15 p. m.—The advance of the French in the district of Dead Man hill on the Verdun front was continued during the night, the war office announced this afternoon. The gains made yesterday were increased and consolidated.

As a consequence of the French artillery preparations at Dead Man hill yesterday, the statement says, two German soldiers surrendered, stating they were the sole survivors of the men in their trench.

Elsewhere west of the Meuse there was active fighting artillery. An engagement with grenades occurred in Avocourt wood. In the region of Vaux, east of the Meuse there was an artillery encounter.

French artillery destroyed a munitions depot at Grande Dune, Belgium.

STRIKE CLOSES PLANT SHIPS NEEDED

Admiral Beresford Says
Supply of Food Endangered

LONDON, May 4.—Admiral Baron Charles Beresford called the attention of the house of lords today to the depletion in the tonnage of British ships needed for trade purposes, asserting that unless it were remedied it would endanger the supply of food and asking the government to consult the labor leaders with a view to obtaining more labor for shipbuilding.

In reply Earl Curzon said the government is now endeavoring to make whole British mercantile marine, amounting to half the gross tonnage of the world. Forty-three per cent of the British tonnage, he added, has been requisitioned for naval and military purposes. 14 per cent is occupied in carrying foodstuffs and raw materials in behalf of the government and its allies, and the remaining 43 per cent is being operated by British ship owners under state regulations.

"Our ships are carrying supplies of coal, grain, food, timber, munitions and the material of war," he said, "and are now doing an unprecedented scale," continued Earl Curzon.

"But for these supplies to France, Russia and Italy, they would be dependent upon their own totally inadequate resources. In several instances the shortage of tonnage has been balanced by new ships, but it is surprising that we should be short of tonnage. Five hundred merchant vessels of all sorts are being built and the number of small craft added to the mercantile marine has been more than 2500."

Personally, Earl Curzon, he believed that there was a much greater restriction of imports, but the great difficulty was how to satisfy the conflicting interests of the allies and the dominions. The government had engaged a considerable number of Canadian lumber men to cut timber in this country and to export it by sea to their own country. By using British supplies of timber for sleepers, pit-props and other purposes, he believed England would be less dependent upon foreign supplies.

DUBLIN, May 4, via London.—How serious the food situation became at the height of the Sinn Fein rebellion here may be judged from the fact that butter sold at $2 a pound, flour at a dollar a pound and potatoes at 60 cents.

STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT

Inquiry has been made relative to the city's contract for gas street lighting and in reply to a question put to him today the mayor stated that there would be open discussion on the matter before the municipal council and he further stated that so far as he is concerned he would just as soon have the matter thrashed out at the council meeting on Tuesday next. Bids have been submitted by the Lowell Gas Light Co. and the Public Service Lighting company of New York. The New York company's bid being about $1 per light cheaper than the local company. There are several stipulations included in the new contract that have not appeared in former street lighting contracts and the mayor believes the matter should be gone over thoroughly at a public meeting in order that the public may know all of the ins and outs.

HALF HOLIDAY CONSIDERED

A meeting of the heads of several local mercantile establishments was held this morning in the rooms of the board of trade in Central street but nothing relative to what was done at the session was given out for publication. It is believed the proposition of giving the clerks employed in their stores Thursday afternoons off from now on was discussed thoroughly by the merchants. Messrs. Arthur G. Pollard, Elbert J. Gilmore and John H. Burns were among those present at the meeting.

ARREST OF SULLIVAN

NEW YORK MAN, HELD IN DUBLIN, HAD SENSATIONAL CAREER AS UNITED STATES MINISTER

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The career of James M. Sullivan, who was reported arrested in Dublin today, as American minister to the Dominican republic, was brief and sensational and ended in his resignation under charges which a commission appointed by the state department, headed by Senator Phelan, investigated. The commission found he had been guilty of indiscretions which unfitted him for his place. The charges concerned Sullivan's alleged participation in contracts on the island but no evidence was found that he had profited.

Sullivan had been a lawyer for Jack Rosa, one of the gamblers in the Rosenthal murder case. His appointment generally was credited to former Secretary Bryan, who in looking for a place for him, wrote Receiver General Vick in the Dominican republic asking "what positions you have at your disposal with which to reward deserving democrats."

Secretary Tumulty disclaimed responsibility for Sullivan's appointment and told the investigating committee he acted simply as the medium transmitting Sullivan's endorsements.

Sullivan was exonerated once by Secretary Bryan but the charges against him would not down and a second investigation resulted in his resignation. When he left office Sullivan said he was going to Ireland for a vacation. The news of his arrest for alleged complicity in the Dublin uprising was the first news of him since he left the diplomatic service. Former Governor Port of New Jersey, who

MEYER SAYS JAPAN COULD CAPTURE IT IN FEW DAYS—CALLS NAVY INEFFICIENT

BOSTON, May 4.—The Pacific ocean could be captured by Japan in a few days and the commerce of the United States locked up like the commerce of Germany is today because of this country's unpreparedness, according to George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, who spoke last night at a meeting of the American legion in Ford hall.

With other speakers including representatives of the state and city, Howard Elliott, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; Roy D. Jones, vice-president, and Dr. J. E. Hausman, secretary of the American legion, Mr. Meyer made an urgent plea for the United States to bestir itself and awaken a latent patriotism to deeds rather than words.

The meeting unanimously placed itself on record as believing that the question of national defense is the most vital issue now before the people of this country, and enthusiastically resolved:

"That we, the members of the American legion, at our quarterly meeting assembled, urge upon our public officials and representatives in Congress, the necessity of a thorough and expeditious examination into the present condition of the armed forces of this country, and

"That we further urge upon such officials and representatives in Congress a speedy enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to enable the United States to successfully resist an armed invasion."

Mention of the name of Theodore Roosevelt—it was mentioned twice—aroused the meeting to loud applause. Mr. Meyer, who was the last speaker, bitterly arraigned the condition of the country's navy, declaring that the actions and "ditherings" of Congress made it "inefficient, undermanned and unbalanced."

"We have 23 battleships today," said Mr. Meyer. "Of these 12 are useless. That leaves 11. Of that number 11 are in the hospital. That leaves

10. Of that number two have got to have their engines done over. That leaves eight. In reality we have only eight first class battleships. And what do we mean by first class? They have a speed of only 23 knots, and their guns may be elevated only 15 degrees.

"More than half of our fleet of destroyers are out of commission. We have a submarine fleet, but the less said about it the better."

Mr. Meyer spoke of the coast defenses, asserting that the guns were inadequate for protection in event of invasion. He scored the government for lack of armored trains and failure to instruct the railroads what to do in case of war, what are strategic points, etc. He deplored the lack of aeroplanes.

Mr. Elliott dwelt upon the need for awakening the latent patriotism of the country, and referred to the necessity of transportation in time of war.

"The government should have some shape of policy so that railroads could have a 20 per cent. reserve in cars, engines and men and be able to increase trains in war time," he said.

REVOLT IN GERMANY

OUTBREAK THREATENED UNLESS DR. LIEBKNECHT, SOCIALIST, IS RELEASED

BERLIN, May 3, via London, May 4.—A Berlin socialist introduced a resolution in the reichstag today requesting Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg to release Dr. Karl Liebknecht from arrest and to suspend proceedings against him until after the adjournment of the reichstag.

DEMONSTRATIONS SUPPRESSED

LONDON, May 4.—The arrest of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the socialist leader, in connection with a May day demonstration in Berlin May 1, caused great excitement among the workers there and led to a fresh demonstration which was suppressed by a large body of police, according to reports from Berlin forwarded from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph Co.

The despatch adds that it is believed the German government will be compelled to release Dr. Liebknecht in order to prevent a revolution. It is stated that he was arrested while addressing a peace demonstration and that it was a violation of the military regulation for him to wear the civilian clothes in which he was arrested as he is a soldier.

Greenhalge's Circuit Clout Decides Lowell Game at Springfield

Zieser in Good Form

Special to The Sun
SPRINGFIELD, May 4.—Winning or losing, the Ponies have been fighting for every ball game they have started so far in the Eastern League campaign. They have been working away for everything in sight, whether two men were out or not. Yesterday only the lack of the break prevented the Ponies from forcing their opening game with Lowell in the two-game series at League park into an extra inning at least. Managerial moves made the game close as it was but a foretold break went against the Ponies and Lowell won out, 5 to 3.

Harry Lord brought here the best looking ball club that has yet appeared at League park. It looked as good as the Ponies seemed hopelessly out of the running in the early stages of the game. It produced the first home run blitzer of the season on the local lot in Catcher Greenhalge. The backdrop was the man to put a

SNUBNER GREENHALGE

Lowell hit to the game in the second inning, when he drove the ball over the left field fence with Barrows on second. When he followed the circuit clout a few innings later with a double, there was no denying his ability to pickle that pill.

Bill Powers began the game and played on the mound long enough for Lowell to gather four earned runs off his delivery. Tony Wallace, his successor, lacked control and gave Lowell another counter so that when the nub of the whole situation is reached, the Ponies defeat simmers down to a matter of pitching. True, the Ponies didn't do much with Matty Zieser, the Lowell boxman, but they made the most of the few opportunities given them.

As a starter for the second inning, Barrows drove a sharp ground through the box and advanced on Stimpson's sacrifice. Greenhalge got what he wanted and drove the ball over the left field fence for two runs, but Powers refused to let anything more get away from him and the next two hitters drove flies to Parks in right.

One was gone in the Springfield half of the third when Jimmy Stephens doubled to left field. He reached third on Powers' infield drive to Zieser and scored on Hickey's infield single, which Zieser couldn't quite handle.

Powers pulled out of a big hole in the fifth with a brand of pitching in the pinch as has been uncovered this season at League park. Greenhalge and Downey began the inning with a double and single, but Powers settled down and retired the side. Torphy was out on an infield hit to Hammond; Zieser's fly went to Hickey and Boone grabbed Kane's long drive.

But good as this play was, it proved only an indication of what was coming in the way of Lowell counters. In the sixth Lord started the rumpus with a single to right. He stole second as Munn struck out and added third on another steal as Barrows was given base on balls. Barrows went down in second but no play was made for him and both scored on Stimpson's drive along the first base foul line. Greenhalge didn't come through this time and his best was an infield drive to Murphy. Downey struck out.

The seventh was Springfield's big inning. One man was gone when Ni-conda reached first on Downey's error. He was forced at second by Stephens, but Egan was sent in as a pinch hitter for Powers and doubled to left field, placing Stephens at third. The return of the ball was poor and Stephens might have scored but he played it safe and stuck at third. When Hickey was passed, the bases were filled and the rally looked as though it might bring a Pony victory. The outcome seemed all the better when Boone singled and drove Stephens and Egan across with runs. Parks came up but his best was a grounder to Munn, who threw him out when Zieser came over and covered the bag. Ordinarily the fly would have gone for a hit but Munn really made a beautiful play on it and choked the rally.

A base on balls, an infield out, and Barrows' double in the eighth gave Lowell its final counter. Lord doing the scoring. Stimpson followed with an infield hit, but was caught stealing and Barrows was picked off third by Stephens.

The score:

LOCAL TEAM LOST

Defeated by Lawrence Academy by 12 to 2

Score

The Lowell high school baseball team went down to defeat at the hands of the Lawrence Academy nine in a closely played game staged in Grotton yesterday afternoon. The score was 12 to 2.

A glance at the error column in the Lowell box score explains the result of the game. The Lowell boys also failed to hit timely and "passed up" several opportunities to score by weak batting. Falls, who pitched the first six innings, allowed eight hits and issued five free passes while Munn, who relieved him was touched up for a brace of bingles in the last two innings. Farrell and Bridgford both pitched steadily for the Grotton boys.

For Lowell, Falls did the heavy hitting with a home run and a single. Mansur and Switzer made two safeties apiece and Capt. Lynch came through with a triple. The fielding of Liston and Switzer featured for the high school boys.

Lowell scored its only two runs in the first inning. The Academy came back with five in their half of the inning and continued piling up the runs until the end of the game. The score:

TO BAR SUNDAY GAMES

REPORTED THAT DETECTIVES ATTENDED LOWELL-NEW HAVEN SLAUGHTER SUNDAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 4.—Alarm was given that some of the organizations who oppose Sunday baseball are to prevent further games being played in this city. It became known yesterday that private detectives were present at the game played between Lowell and New Haven at Savin Rock Sunday, who jotted down a list of names of many present, including those of the players and umpires. As the game was the procedure taken two seasons ago when Sunday games were broken up, it is assumed that the step is a forerunner to a complaint which will be filed with the West Haven authorities and that warrants for the arrests of the players will be issued, and the spectators will be called as witnesses to the fact that a game was played. Reports were current last night that similar steps might be taken in Bridgeport. No attempts have been made to begin Sunday professional ball playing in any other Connecticut cities this season.

The New Haven team has planned to play its games on its own grounds at Savin Rock this season. In case it removes to Lighthouse Point for the Sunday games it is not likely to improve its case as the complaints will be made instead to the New Haven court officials, who have no recourse, in case warrants are served by the town, or try or state police, but the cases. Under the law, Sunday ball is clearly prohibited. The success of the new league lies to a great degree upon its ability to play

Errors by the Lowell Textile infield were responsible for the Andover academy victory over the local team at Brothers field, Andover, yesterday afternoon. The Textile boys started off fine by scoring three runs in the first inning, but after that they were unable to find Tracy's delivery. Davis also pitched in good form and besides holding the Andover boys to four hits, struck out nine men.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Four in a row for Harry Lord's Grays.

Grover Cleveland Alexander is still "The Great."

By a lucky run in the fifth inning, Worcester squeezed out its first win.

"Snubner" Greenhalge's home run, with one man on, settled the game all right.

Poor old Larry Lajoie put the Athletics back to work on ice with a pretty home run.

Three shutouts in the Eastern league yesterday show that the pitchers are rounding into form.

Reiger, who played with Manchester last year and was supposed to have reported at Spaulding park this spring, pitched his first game for Bridgeport yesterday, losing by the score of 4 to 2.

As neither Kihullen nor Lavigne is in condition to catch regularly at present, it will be up to Greenhalge to shoulder the brunt of the work for a while. "Snubner" has been doing a pretty good job on this trip.

Fred Tenney's Newark club is hitting up a great winning clip, being tied with the Grays for the lead with a clean slate of four victories. The old boy threatened to play first base some time ago, but Durgin, the former Brown star, is holding down the job very acceptably.

The new ball park at Hopewell in the Virginia league is built on the site of an old battlefield. Along the outfield fence runs a line of breastworks built by General Grant when his army faced that of General Lee. The town population has shown a bad habit of climbing on these old fortifications and looking over the fence, much to the detriment of the game, so it is proposed to level the relic of war days.

After burning 1500 gallons of gasoline to get his diamond in shape for one game, and having the next game postponed because of more dangers, Prexy Britton of the St. Louis Cardinals concluded he might as well buy a tarpaulin to cover his field and the pitcher's box. Hereafter there will be fewer postponed games at the Cardinal park in St. Louis.

Fred Lake is making good in the role of coach at Colby college. Working under the former major leaguer is Jimmy Knox, but he is having his troubles annexing the catching berth. In Ashworth, Colby is said to have one of the best college catchers in the game, hence Knox's activity. And this Ashworth must be the real goods when he can keep Knox off the club, for Jimmy is a clever shortstop and can peg with any of them.

Lowell has a formidable ball club well fortified in every department and to watch Harry Lord and his cohorts. Lowell has three good backstops in Kihullen, Lavigne and Greenhalge and a good pitching staff in Green, Zieser, Hank Horsey, Zeke Lohman and King. Kane, Tom Downey, Lord and Torphy in the infield are all fast seasoned ball tossers while Stimpson, Barrows and Joe Briggs make up a hard hitting trio in the gardens. The Spiders are also bound to present a good front in the base running line. —Lynn Telegram.

Baseball fans in Chicago will soon be poking their heads out of their office windows, or detailing their office boys to do that little thing, to see if the flag is up. This will follow the new system to be introduced in the windy city by Charles Weegman, president of the Chicago clubs, whereby flags will be displayed from prominent buildings in the business center of the city, notifying the fans whether or not the scheduled game for that day will be played.

Instead of jamming his thumb as he closes his desk top with a crash in the race to get to the ball park, only to find that the game is off, the fan will be able to turn leisurely to the office boy and ask: "Jimmy, will you glance out of the window and see if the flag is flying."

The Braves challenge any 15-year-old team in the city for a quarter ball, the Hudson A.C. or the Christian Hill Stars preferred. Send challenges to J. J. Flanagan or answer through this paper.

The Alpine A.C. would like a game for next Saturday. They want to play the Centerville Blues, St. Michael's, North Shore or the 12 or 13-year-old team. Send challenges through this paper or write to Bill Wood, 75 Hampshire street.

SIX DAY SKATING RACE

NEBES HAS TWO LAP LEAD WITH EVENT HALF OVER—FOURTH PART TO BE STAGED TONIGHT

With just half of the six day race at the Rollaway rink over, Albert Nebes of this city is leading his nearest opponent, Billy Yale of New Haven, by two laps. Emery, another speedster, is third in the contest and Pasquale, who is in fourth place, promises that he will show something during the remainder of the week.

The third 30 minutes of the race was attended by unusual enthusiasm. As on the other occasions, the chief interest was centered around Nebes and Yale, who are giving a wonderful demonstration of fast roller skating in this race. Both skaters were penalized one lap last night but when the evening's instalment concluded the Lowell boy had added another three-quarters of a lap to his lead. Yale experienced skate trouble, but promises to remedy this for the next race. Pasquale dropped from third to fourth place owing to trouble with his skates. Though Nebes has a lead which his friends believe he will retain, the race is still anybody's and Billy Yale has not yet lost confidence. He thinks that with one good night he can catch up with the leader and then fight it out for the lead on Friday or Saturday night. Both skaters are as speedy as any in New England and have had racing experience that should prove a great benefit in this week's contest. Tonight promises to develop some changes as the three "runners up" will use every effort to catch up with Nebes.

The standing of the men to date is as follows:

Skater	Last Night	Total
Nebes	7 23	23 12 1/2
Yale	7 23	23 10 1/2
Emery	6 40	22 02
Pasquale	6 11	21 10

Absolutely Pure 100% Turkish Tobacco

10 Cents for 10

You Can Smoke Straights with all the Confidence in the World, Gentlemen

WHAT other manufacturer of cigarettes can show a room like this? It is only a section of one floor, yet on all the other floors of the STRAIGHTS factory you will see the same wonderful appearing workrooms, the same intelligent looking people at work. There are no secrets in The American Tobacco Company's cigarette business. The STRAIGHTS factory is wide open for your inspection. From top to bottom it is full of interest.

IT is always the same — never has to be "fixed up," whether the visitor be a M'Cann or the most humble cigarette smoker. Mr. M'Cann, the arch-enemy of filth and deception in food products, cries to the world — "Cigarette Maker Puts Food Makers to Shame." For no darkness, dirt nor disease lurks in the STRAIGHTS factory — as you can plainly see.

CONSIDER with these methods of manufacture the fact that nothing but Turkish Tobacco is used in STRAIGHTS—Receiving Clerk Boyd's affidavit stating that in all his five years of service he has never seen any but Turkish tobacco from bonded warehouses and bearing the original Turkish markings come into the STRAIGHTS factory; General Manager Vale's affidavit attesting to this fact, and finally, Vice-President O'Brien's statement, breathing confidence from beginning to end, that the public, once they smoked STRAIGHTS, will know that it is the millennium in ten-cent pure Turkish cigarettes and will appreciate it as such.

CONSIDER, furthermore, the pictures and affidavits which we printed in previous advertisements, all to acquaint you with the care with which The American Tobacco Company purchases the leaf in Turkey and examines and re-examines it—the novel Blending Board which patiently tests the different crops in order to maintain the general excellence of the blends—all these various processes of manufacture to convince you that it is only reasonable to expect the satisfying smoke which STRAIGHTS give you—equalled nowhere at the price.

REMEMBER we want everyone who can to visit the STRAIGHTS factory, 337-347 West 27th Street, New York City. A postal with your name and address will bring the cards of invitation promptly.

GRASS AND RUBBISH FIRES

Scores of permits for the building of grass and rubbish fires have been issued through the office of the chief of the fire department during the past several weeks. Almost as large a number of permits have been issued from the office of the water board at city hall, where permits can be received if more convenient than going to the central fire station.

Due to the weather conditions this spring the number of grass fires has been comparatively small and the recent heavy rains have resulted in an abundance of green grass which is not so susceptible to fire as the dry brown straws.

No Prospect of Immediate Settlement in New York

NEW YORK, May 4.—About 65,000 workers on women's garments, are on strike today with no prospect of immediate settlement. The union leaders say that 2317 shops have been closed and that the strike is the largest in the history of the industry. The strikers are receiving offers of settlement from some of the manufacturers who are not members of the Manufacturers' Protective association.

The demands of the strikers, made public today, are for a working week of 48 hours instead of 50; ten legal holidays a year instead of six; overtime of not more than two hours a day; double pay for overtime work; a general wage increase of $2 to $2.50 a week; settlements to be made by joint price committees, sanitary shops and a fair division of the work.

QUIET AT PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 4.—Many plants at Braddock, where strikers have been in operation, were working full force today, and not a picket was in sight. Cavalry patrols covered the Turtle Creek valley, but the infantry was held in temporary barracks in East Pittsburgh.

TO ADJUST DIFFERENCE

NEW YORK, May 4.—A movement to adjust the differences between the New York Central and Nickel Plate railroads and their 5000 telegraph operators and signmen on lines between New York and Chicago, was begun here today. J. W. Hanger, assistant commissioner of the federal board of mediation and conciliation had a talk over the telephone with H. B. Perham, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers and A. T. Hardin, a vice president of the New York Central planned to call on Mr. Hanger later at his hotel.

Hanger said he was here only passively, awaiting requests by either side for his services and that if none should be made during the day he would so inform the federal board in Washington, with which decision would rest as to whether he was to take an active part in bringing about an understanding.

CARMEN ACCEPT OFFER

CLEVELAND, O., May 4.—Motor men and conductors of the Cleveland Railway Co. voted 1123 to 456 early today to accept the company's compromise wage offer thus averting a strike.

The terms as accepted by the men call for a wage increase of two cents an hour, effective at once with an additional one cent increase May 1, 1917. The first year men have been getting 23 cents an hour and the others 32 cents.

Mayor Davis and President John J. Slane of the company agreed that the increased wages will not necessitate raising the fare from the present rate of three cents if strict economies are practiced.

STRIKE IN MANCHESTER, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 4.—Building operations on two of the largest enterprises in the city are at a standstill. Labor strikes in force at the Pillsbury apartments at Pennacook and Elm streets, and at the Pillsbury church on Pearl street. The strike, which began May day, shows no sign of settlement.

The strikers are masons and plasterers who have been getting $4 a day for their work and they want $4.80. As both the Pillsbury buildings and the church are concrete structures, the strike, which not only prevents work on the inside plastering and brick, but also the entire outside finish of the buildings. Upward of 50 men are involved.

The principal mason contractors involved are Elmer E. Reed and James Charney, both of whom have been employing only union help.

REINIKKER CASE WENT TO U. S. COURT BECAUSE PLAINTIFF IS CITIZEN OF FINLAND

After four days of actual trial in the district court of the United States at Boston, Judge Morlon presiding, a jury, yesterday afternoon, found for the defendants in the case of Julius Reinikker against Sergeant of Police Bartholomew Ryan and Patrolman Patrick Sullivan of Lowell. The case was reported briefly in The Sun yesterday.

The arrest out of which the suit grew was made on the night of October 28, 1914. It seems that Reinikker, who was under the influence of liquor, was making things lively at his home on the second floor of a house at 100 West Main street. He was taken to the street and the officers tried to avoid an arrest. They took him home twice and in the second time found him in a kitchen. Reinikker showed fight, while in the alley near his home he struck Patrolman Sullivan and then ran into the house. The officers followed him in and Reinikker gave them battle in the kitchen. They had to use their clubs to subdue him and in the night that he was taken to the police station.

Later Reinikker was arraigned in police court on the charge of drunkenness and was found guilty. Then he sued for assault and false imprisonment, claiming damage to the amount of $5000, alleging that his injuries developed deafness, dizziness, headaches and nervous disturbances. He said he was not drunk and that he was not given an opportunity to get either an interpreter or counsel.

He also claimed that he did not offer any resistance when arrested, that there was no glass broken in his kitchen windows and that he was unable to go to work for three weeks after the rough handling given him by the officers.

The defense, however, succeeded in battering down about all of the formidable things that Reinikker put up. Their first step was to produce the interpreter that he had in police court and they further showed that the interpreter was not in the room when Reinikker for the purpose of engaging a certain lawyer there to defend Reinikker in police court. They were unable to get the lawyer they wanted and just for that Reinikker went to trial without counsel.

To prove that there were panes of glass broken in the kitchen window, the defendants produced the man who replaced the glass. Then they tackled Reinikker's testimony relative to the three weeks of idleness as the result of his scrap with the officers and produced Reinikker's boss in the mill who stated that Reinikker was out one week instead of three.

The reason that the case was taken to the United States district court was because the complainant, Reinikker, was a citizen of Finland suing citizens of the United States. The jury found that Reinikker was drunk when he was taken to the police station and that he was not a citizen of Finland.

The jury also found that the alleyway in which the arrest was first attempted was a public place and that the officers had the right to arrest Reinikker for intoxication even though he was not a citizen of the United States. Solicitor Harold A. Varnum and William A. Hogan appeared for the defendants and J. Alfred Anderson of Boston for the plaintiff. If appeal is taken the case will go to the United States court of appeals.

PLOT TO SINK VESSELS

FAY DENIES GERMAN OFFICIALS INVOLVED—RIGOROUS EXAMINATION

NEW YORK, May 4.—Although subjected to rigorous cross-examination during this morning's session of his trial, Lieut. Robert Fay could not be shaken from the essential details of the narrative he related yesterday. Fay, together with Walter Scholz and Paul Daech, is being tried in the federal district court here on the charge of conspiring to blow up munition ships.

Fay reiterated his assertion of yesterday that he had come to this country as a deserter from the German army. He denied that German authorities had taken any part in the alleged plot to sink munition ships by means of the rubber boat which he invented. Fay declared that most of the statements he made to the police had been constructed out of whole cloth on the promise being made to him that he would not be prosecuted.

The defense announced that it would close probably tonight and the case may go to the jury tomorrow.

made an agreement which would not have been acceptable to his chief. The agreement provides for the cooperation of American troops and Carranza soldiers in clearing northern Mexico of bandits. Mexican railroads will be utilized for the transportation of supplies for the American troops.

While no time limit is set for the withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico that will be done as soon as there are definite indications that American border towns are no longer in danger of raids.

U. S. TROOPERS CHARGED WITH KNIVES IN TEETH

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, April 23, via motor courier to Columbus, N. M., May 3.—There was man-to-man fighting, and some of the Americans went up the mountainside with knives in their teeth during Col. George A. Dodd's battle with Villa's bandits on April 22 at Temochic.

"It was the devil's own playground," was Col Dodd's description of the terrain of this battle in southwestern Chihuahua among towering mountains, where 150 bandits sought refuge.

For two days Dodd's troops of the Seventh cavalry fought from an immense hollow with bandits on three sides, charging deliberately over ground marked with bullet puffs in the dust all about their feet, where the Mexicans had their exact range.

They were ordered for at least 50 bandits killed or wounded, and an American can loss of two dead and three wounded.

Two nights before this fight the Americans overtook the bandits at the Quivira mine, telling the natives that how they claimed to have killed the Americans at Columbus and at Guerrero. They showed him lumps of gold and silver taken from Mexican towns, which they asserted were spoils of war.

Shortly before midnight an outpost ran in breathless, exclaiming: "Scores of dark forms leaping from the freight, bugles blew and in ten minutes the whole bandit command had galloped out of town. When the cavalrymen came in they found two American mining men, a Mr. Seyferth and another, who had paid $2000 ransom to the bandits.

These Americans said the bandits were led by Candelario Cervantes, Jesus Delyores, Cruz Dominguez and Manuel Baca, who was killed by a Mexican the following Sunday after the fight.

They then were followers of Julio Acosta and Gen. Beltran. They were remnants of all the best known Villa commanders' veterans, and at that time at least, the last known band of Villa's men whose nerve had not been shaken by defeats at Columbus, Guerrero and Agua Prieta.

Saturday afternoon at 4.50 Dodd's men, arriving at the southern rim of the hills forming the cup in which the town of Temochic lies, saw the rear guard of bandits riding out of town. Ahead of them they saw the main body waiting for them to give battle. A machine gun was placed to sweep this ridge while the Americans rode down into the cup in pursuit.

They dismounted in town, advancing on foot with rifles ready, led by Troop L and accompanied by the two guides. A lone Mexican trooper was hit and mortally wounded. The bullet came from the flank of a cave in a mountain overlooking Temochic. Out of a big adobe chimney the troops pulled a sniper, the only one caught in the place.

Behind the town Troop L advanced to within range of the press of men to within range of the press of men. They crossed the range in short rushes, lying down and firing, then advancing a few yards.

Col. Dodd, with his staff, rode through the zone of fire, while bullets fell within a yard or two of every man until they had reached the zone beyond the town. From her Dodd directed the fight. Another machine gun was brought up close to play on the force at the crest in front of the knoll. Out along the American line a trooper was lying on his stomach firing. His comrade said a hot strike 4 feet in front of him then came. The bullet 20 feet ahead of him. In a moment more a third ball struck him in the head, killing him. A lieutenant lying among his men directing the fire, was wounded.

Meanwhile the Americans had gotten to the crest of the Mexican on the crest and checked their fire. Several freshly made graves on this crest, found next day, testified to the Americans' aim. One Mexican leader on a gray horse rode into sight on the skyline half a dozen times but seemed to be hit by a gray mounted soldier. He was the last living object the Americans distinguished before darkness ended the fighting. This horse was found wounded next day at Santo Tomas, where Manuel Baca, the Villa leader, was killed by Leoncio Alvarez, a Mexican peasant, for the price of $1000 (about $7 American money). The Mexicans said the horse was Baca's.

MAN WHO ACTED AS SCOUT FOR U. S. TROOPS KILLED

EL PASO, Tex., May 4.—P. H. Holly, a chasero, was shot and killed by Mexican soldiers on the night of April 29 because he had acted as a scout for American troops who went to the Holly ranch to rid it of Villa bandits. This is the information contained in a despatch from Gen. Pershing today.

A detachment of the Sixth Infantry under Lieut. Wetberell and guided by Holly set out on the morning of the 29th to run down the Villa band, dispersed the bandits, wounding two men whom they captured.

Holly stayed at the ranch that night. The next morning his body and that of his foreman were found. The despatch did not state whether Holly was an American.

PLANS FOR SEARCHING THE BOTTOM OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY FOR THE CLYDE LINER

BOSTON, May 4.—For the purpose of searching the bottom of Massachusetts bay for the remains of a steamer which was sunk in collision 13 years ago, Fred Wallace, an expert submarine diver of this city, is fitting out the schooner Eddie Minot.

It is Mr. Wallace's intention to raise the vessel if possible, and if not to at least salvage enough metal and other material to more than pay for the expedition.

The sunken steamer is the Clyde liner, Klowa, which went down Dec. 26, 1903, between Thieves' Ledge and Harding's following a collision with the steamer Admiral Dewey. Up to the present time scarcely anything has been recovered from the bottom of the water.

TAX RATE MAY JUMP

The Town of Dracut Faces Higher Taxes—Notes of Interest to the Town—Road Work in Prospect

Just because the American Woolen Co., which has a large plant in the Collinsville district of Dracut, and which was formerly a company incorporated under the laws of Connecticut, has been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, it is believed on good authority that the tax rate for 1916 in the town of Dracut will increase about $1.50 for the town loses a tax on a sum amounting to about $43,400. According to the law all that can be assessed on a company incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts is the real estate property and machinery. Up to this year the American Woolen Co. was incorporated under the laws of Connecticut and its personal property including horses, automobiles, etc., was assessed and this helped to some extent to keep the tax rate down. One of the assessors in conversation with a Sun reporter yesterday stated that unless the loss through the incorporation of the American Woolen Co. can be made on new real estate, the tax rate will jump about $1.50, which means that the rate will probably be $28 per thousand. Several new houses were erected in Collinsville and the Centre village, and accordingly the assessors were hopeful that they could make up the loss by taxing new property, but this now seems impossible on account of the large amount involved.

Another reason for a coming increase is the fact that the town at its last town meeting has raised $13,000 more than in the previous year. The assessors have started on their annual tour of the town and they hope to conclude within a few weeks. Then they will get busy on the books and it is probable they will announce the new rate by the latter part of July.

"KNU-SHUS"

Cost Less and Last Longer Than Leather Shoes

For factory workers, mechanics, structural workers, roofers, masons, carpenters, teamsters, motormen, postmen, farmers.

"Knu-Shus" are the country-wide standard shoes for workmen. Workers have found these shoes are longer-lasting than the leather shoes they have been wearing.

They have found them far more comfortable—none of the discomfort that comes from heavy, leather shoes.

Besides—"Knu-Shus" cost far less than leather shoes of anywhere near the same quality.

"Knu-Shus" are a great revolution in low-price, hard-service working shoes.

Their soles are made of a composition having rubber as the principal part. They have all the flexibility of rubber with far greater toughness than leather.

The uppers are made of a new process duck, as strong as the fabric in automobile tires, and are far more easy and comfortable than leather uppers can possibly be.

Made also in Youths' and Boys' sizes.

ZEPPELIN LOST

L-20 Completely Destroyed and Driven Ashore—Many Missing

LONDON, May 4.—The Zeppelin L-20 has been completely destroyed and driven ashore on the western side of Hato Firth, Norway, according to advices from Stavanger. Some of the crew were rescued.

The Zeppelin L-20 passed north of Sandness about 10 o'clock in the morning, says a Reuter despatch from Stavanger. She was flying low and was angled. Five or six men were seen to jump from the airship. Boats put out and the commander and one seaman were rescued and taken to a hospital.

The Zeppelin was then driven against a hillside. Its after-body broke in two and part of it fell. Some of the crew jumped or were hurled out. The Zeppelin then rode a little and was driven westward, but the bag collapsed in the centre and the airship descended rapidly.

A torpedo boat, which had been following along the coast, went to its assistance and rescued three men still in the cabin. A fourth man had jumped out shortly before.

The Zeppelin was completely destroyed and driven ashore on the western side of the Firth, near its outlet to the sea.

The Zeppelin air raid on the northeast coast of England and southeast coast of Scotland last night resulted in 36 casualties. This announcement was made officially yesterday. One hundred bombs were dropped.

The text of the statement reads: "The Zeppelin raid last night covered a considerable extent of the eastern coast. At least five or six airships actually crossed the shore.

"Reports from reliable observers made at various times during the night at many points, some as far distant as Rattray Head, Scotland, down to the north coast of Norfolk, would point to the possibility of a greater number of airships having been employed on our coast. The enemy, however, made only two attempts to penetrate inland.

100 Bombs Thrown

"About 100 bombs were dropped, scattered over many localities. The exact number is difficult to give, since a great number fell in uninhabited areas and some into the sea.

"In only a single locality did the raiders cause any casualties or effect much damage. In this case the bombs amounted to 12 explosive and four incendiary, and 18 houses were damaged. The casualties totaled six men, one of them a soldier, and two women killed, and 19 men—including three soldiers—and eight women injured, a total of 35.

"The remaining 70-odd bombs occasioned only two casualties—one soldier and one child slightly injured.

"The damage effected—on a storehouse and a few cottages—was mostly broken glass.

"The raiders only twice came within range of any anti-aircraft artillery. On both occasions they retreated out of range without delay.

German Plane Attacks Deal

A German seaplane, yesterday afternoon made an air raid on Deal. No fatalities resulted, but two persons were injured. The official statement concerning the raid says that the windows of a church were broken, the roof of a house was blown off and a public house seriously damaged. Altogether seven bombs were dropped. The injured persons were a man and a woman.

The aeroplane approached Deal from the direction of Ramsgate, and after dropping the bombs retreated, pursued by British aircraft.

CREW CAPTURED

STAVANGER, Norway, via London, May 4.—The Zeppelin L-23 is now lying on the shore of the west side of Hato Firth where it was anchored and is watched by the military. The crew of 16 were all captured. One was wounded, another had a broken leg and a third a broken arm.

The disaster was probably due to a shortage of gasoline. Three men who remained aboard the Zeppelin until the last moment threw overboard the most important parts of the machinery.

STAGGERED INTO PORT

24,802,000 SCOTCH HIGHLANDS REACH NEW YORK ON TUSCANIA OF THE ANCHOR LINE

NEW YORK, May 4.—The good ship Tuscania of the Anchor line staggered into port yesterday bearing tidings of great joy for the ancient marines of Broadway and Cape Times square. Stored carefully away in her hold, under a heavy guard, were the makings of enough highballs to lubricate that arid section for some days to come.

Statistical sharps were covering the cafe table cloths with figures at late hour last night, in an effort to determine how many highballs are represented in the 700 tons of Scotch which the "souse ship" brought in. Late returns from the outlying precincts around Forty-second street place the number at 24,802,000.

The figure was arrived at, it was explained, by a progressive system of mathematics which determined that 700 tons means 137,000 cases.

There are 12 bottles to a case and 15 fluid ounces, or, in other words, 16 drinks to a bottle.

By the simple process of multiplication the before-mentioned figure is reached. This does not take into consideration, of course, the hard boiled eggs who ignore the three-finger standard. This ancient order cannot be dealt with by any established rules of mathematics.

AT OLD LADIES HOME

ANNUAL MAY PARTY A BIG SUCCESS—RECEIPTS FAR IN ADVANCE OF LAST YEAR

The annual May party, supper and entertainment of the Old Ladies Home in Fletcher street was held last evening and the attendance was larger than on any similar occasion.

The receipts at the door jumping more than 75 per cent over last year and the dining room receipts jumped 125 per cent. The supper was served at 6.30 and it was a luncheon fit for the nobility. The salesladies were well patronized and everything connected with the affair proved a great big success.

Mrs. Edwin T. Shaw, secretary of the association, was the leading light in the evening's festivities.

The evening's festivities included an entertainment by thirty young men of St. Anne's church choir. They called it the "Pierrot Show" and it was all to the good. They were dressed in Pierrot costumes, their faces disguised by paint, moustaches, and the audience, that filled to overflowing the large hall, was appreciative and responsive. The soloists were Ivar Johnson, Herbert Harrison, Abel Wilson, Harold Moir, Roy Burger, Wilfred Clayton, Ernest Lussier, Roland Worth, Winston Rouse, Gardner Collins and James Kelly. Solos and choruses came in rapid succession, interspersed with jokes and minstrelsy.

The committees assisting were as follows:

place the number at 24,802,000.

The figure was arrived at, it was explained, by a progressive system of mathematics which determined that 700 tons means 137,000 cases.

There are 12 bottles to a case and 15 fluid ounces, or, in other words, 16 drinks to a bottle.

By the simple process of multiplication the before-mentioned figure is reached. This does not take into consideration, of course, the hard boiled eggs who ignore the three-finger standard. This ancient order cannot be dealt with by any established rules of mathematics.

AT OLD LADIES HOME

ANNUAL MAY PARTY A BIG SUCCESS—RECEIPTS FAR IN ADVANCE OF LAST YEAR

The annual May party, supper and entertainment of the Old Ladies Home in Fletcher street was held last evening and the attendance was larger than on any similar occasion.

The receipts at the door jumping more than 75 per cent over last year and the dining room receipts jumped 125 per cent. The supper was served at 6.30 and it was a luncheon fit for the nobility. The salesladies were well patronized and everything connected with the affair proved a great big success.

Mrs. Edwin T. Shaw, secretary of the association, was the leading light in the evening's festivities.

The evening's festivities included an entertainment by thirty young men of St. Anne's church choir. They called it the "Pierrot Show" and it was all to the good. They were dressed in Pierrot costumes, their faces disguised by paint, moustaches, and the audience, that filled to overflowing the large hall, was appreciative and responsive. The soloists were Ivar Johnson, Herbert Harrison, Abel Wilson, Harold Moir, Roy Burger, Wilfred Clayton, Ernest Lussier, Roland Worth, Winston Rouse, Gardner Collins and James Kelly. Solos and choruses came in rapid succession, interspersed with jokes and minstrelsy.

The committees assisting were as follows:

HELD ANNUAL BANQUET ARRESTED IN DUBLIN, IRE.

GEORGE F. MAGUIRE
Chairman Banquet Committee.

JOHN H. BURKE
President

Enjoyable Social Event by the Lowell Grocers' and Butchers'
Association at Harrisonia Hotel

In the main dining room of the Harrisonia hotel last evening the Lowell Grocers' and Butchers' association held its annual banquet. The hall was well filled and the party was divided in groups at a number of tables that gave the assembly the appearance of a dining room made up of many small parties. It was an agreeable change from the long tables usually seen at such banquets. The reception committee, Messrs. Edward M. Bowers, Edward Fitzpatrick and Alanson Gray were right on their job and received the guests with all due ceremony. Gray's orchestra discoursed lively music during the evening and availed of the fine opportunity in the waiting courses to display its ability.

After the select menu had been disposed of at about 10 o'clock, Mr. Geo. F. Maguire, chairman of the banquet committee, called to order and introduced President John H. Burke as toastmaster. Mr. Burke in a brief address of welcome expressed his pleasure at seeing so many members of the association present and especially at the attendance of so many of the ladies. He wished to open the exercises by asking the audience to join in singing America with orchestral accompaniment.

Mayor O'Donnell

The first speaker introduced was His Honor Mayor O'Donnell, who was very cordially received.

His Honor spoke in a humorous vein, referring to his physical condition as that of an athlete who has to do considerable running. He had almost despair of qualifying for the Fat Men's banquet which comes next Monday night. He had appointed his friend, Jackson Palmer, Esq., on a waterways committee and Jackson has been running after him ever since.

He was glad to extend to the association the greetings of the city of Lowell, a city enjoying perhaps the greatest degree of prosperity in her history, a prosperity in which all may share. He referred to the mills and the factories working with full force,

Jas. Sullivan, Former American Minister, Charged With Complicity in Revolt

LONDON, May 4, 3.12 p. m.—James M. Sullivan of New York, formerly American minister to Santo Domingo, has been arrested in Dublin on the charge of complicity in the Irish rebellion.

CONNOLLY IS ALIVE

Dispatch From Dublin Announces But Three Rebel Leaders Shot—McNeill Missing

DUBLIN, May 3 (Delayed)—Justice has been swift in the case of the leaders of the Sinn Féin rebellion. Three of the ringleaders who signed the proclamation of the short-lived Irish republic, paid the supreme sacrifice this morning. They were Patrick H. Pearce, the scholarly president of the provisional government; Thomas MacDonagh and Thomas J. Clark. Their death sentences were pronounced by the field general court martial and were duly confirmed by the highest authorities.

Connolly in Prison

Of the other signatories, James Connolly is lying in prison wounded, Sean MacDiarmid, Eamonn Ceannt and Joseph Plunkett are somewhere in Ireland, whether free or captured is not publicly known.

The people busy, contented and happy, getting all the advantages and privileges that can be offered by any city of our size in the country. He paid a high compliment to the Grocers' and Butchers' association as filling an important place in the activities of the community. In conclusion he wished the association and its members continued prosperity, knowing as he did that by their enterprise they fully deserved it.

Edward Fitzpatrick

Past President Edward Fitzpatrick spoke for the association. He stated that the stores conducted by the members of the association are kept up to as high a standard in cleanliness, sanitary conditions and general efficiency as those of any city in the United States. He said the organization had been incorporated 30 years ago and few of the charter members are left, although he could mention one still active in Mr. O. B. Ranellet. The association maintains a legislative agent to oppose laws that would be detrimental to their business and to the public. He felt that the association does much good in bringing the members into more friendly relations and letting the public know just what the organization represents.

Henry W. Mansfield

Mr. Henry W. Mansfield, secretary of the Massachusetts Provisional Dealers' association, was the next speaker. He told what is being done to equalize food standards throughout the United States for the benefit of the public and the convenience of the dealers. He cited the single item of vinegar as an example of the work. At present the standard of vinegar is higher in Massachusetts than is required by the agricultural department of the federal government. A bill is before the legislature to have the standard changed from 4-1-2 to 4 per cent and he hoped it would become law. Representative Victor Jewett, he said, assisted the association in pushing the measure. At present the dealers have endless trouble in ascertaining the precise standard of the article. With a uniform standard they could purchase anywhere without risk of being haled into court for violation of law on a mere technicality. He gave many instances in which he said the merchant grocers are unjustly compelled to pay for the scaling of weights and measures which is done for the public benefit. He mentioned reductions that had been secured for scaling molasses and oil pumps.

He referred to the enforcement of the closing laws on Sundays, to the opposition to take advertising, and to hawkers and peddlers. He advised the dealers to appeal to the state police if the local police under Chief Welch failed to do their duty. He complimented David Gerow and Alanson Gray for their readiness to go out and fight for the interests of the dealers.

Supt. Welch

Supt. Welch when called upon remarked that he didn't know exactly whether it was his prominence as a police official or his capacity as a speaker that caused him to be invited to such social affairs.

He replied to Mr. Mansfield's insinuation that it might be necessary to bring in the state police here by alleging that the state police would regard a complaint relative to Lowell as a huge joke. Lowell, he said, is a crime-ridden city. You hear of no hold-ups, no burglaries, no serious crimes of any kind and it was by running down the rap shooters and other minor offenders that the more serious crimes are prevented. He believed in removing the causes of crime and catching the offenders in the initial act. He then gave a description of how the third degree work is conducted, but made no reference to finger prints.

Secretary Murphy

Secretary John H. Murphy made a neat and appropriate speech dealing with the origin and aims of the association. Its various lines of usefulness and its importance in the community. As usual of course Mr. Murphy gave Lowell a boost and wound up with this quotation:—

"Wherever record of men you find
Who've served their country or their kind
With sword or pen or hand or heart
Lowell has done an honorable part
By the busy mills which hum and sing
By the engine's stroke or anvil's ring
It is in the frame and steel and wood
Art is the hand of human good."

During the course of the evening there were songs by James Roane, Frank P. McCarthy, Patrick Nevins, Jackson Palmer and Commissioner Donnelly, all well known and popular vocalists.

The banquet committee consisted of Messrs. Geo. F. Maguire, chairman, John McCullough, John P. Curley, John J. Sullivan, Henry Dunham, John H. Burke, Edward Fitzpatrick, Alanson Gray and Edward M. Bowers. The officers of the Lowell Grocers' and Butchers' association are: John H. Burke, president; John McCullough, secretary, and Edward M. Bowers, treasurer.

Doyle's Orch., Princeton club, Friday.

The other ringleaders in custody in Ireland are now being tried with great rapidity by the central court-martial while the local courts-martial are dealing with minor rebels in various districts. The Associated Press correspondents saw a batch of the prisoners leaving one of the courts after being sentenced. Some of them spoke to the members of their escort as they marched away and unless their cheery appearance was forced, they evidently had escaped with more lenient punishment than they had expected. The general public was not aware of the execution of the ringleaders until late this evening, and it was not possible to observe the effect of their punishment upon the citizens of Dublin, who, however, for the vastly greater part were not in sympathy with the rebellion.

More Snipers Captured

Further captures of isolated snipers occurred today in the outlying quarters of the capital, and orders were issued by Maj. Gen. Sir John Maxwell that any rebels found with arms should be severely dealt with. Very few shots have been heard in the city since Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, when a government boat passing down the Liffey river was fired upon and sharp salvos from machine guns in the vicinity of Rathmines alarmed people in the neighborhood.

McNeill is Missing

Everybody is asking what has become of John McNeill, the local organizer of the Sinn Féin, who seems to have disappeared from Dublin with the firing of the first shot. Another man in whose fate great interest is manifested is The O'Reilly. It is now reported that his body was found among the debris of the general post-office.

Confidence is rapidly returning among the civilian population and although work has not been generally resumed, many stores have been reopened. The government requisitioned all the food supplies in stock on its arrival at the quays, and ample food was furnished to the poorer people at three depots opened at the Northwestern quays, the shell factory and Rathmines.

Further Casualties

From these stores food was supplied to the shops at prices prevailing before the rebellion on condition that they be sold to the public at similar rates. The south and west of Ireland are still in a state of anarchy. Disturbances are rare and these are being sharply suppressed. Some further casualties are reported among the troops. Though the young soldiers are performing their duty under the severest conditions of warfare, many of them having had only a few months' training, they are displaying the utmost bravery, never hesitating to advance under the hottest fire.

Must Surrender All Arms

In several parts of Ireland the Sinn Féin organization did not take part in the outbreak, but as they possess huge quantities of arms and ammunition, they are being closely watched. Orders were issued today demanding that they immediately surrender all their arms, and in case these bodies of illegal semi-soldiers do not comply with the order very effective steps are to be taken against them by the military authorities, who are aware that for two years past Ireland has been turned into a gigantic arsenal by persons who had no right to possess arms. A provisional postal service has been established in Dublin where letters are now arriving from the provinces and from England but no outgoing mail service yet has been organized and it is impossible to obtain postage stamps.

Prisoners in Cellar

The authorities have acquired premises in the city to replace the general postoffice which was destroyed during its occupation as a rebel headquarters. This afternoon two British soldiers were found badly scorched in the cellar of one of the buildings which had been held by the rebels. They had been taken prisoners early in the rebellion and did not know that it had been suppressed.

The building, which is near the Sinn Féin, had been set on fire by the Sinn Féiners before they evacuated it. The soldiers were much exhausted, but are expected to recover.

CAUSES OF IRISH REVOLT

LONDON, May 4.—In the house of commons today Premier Asquith promised that he would make a statement next week on the causes of the Irish revolt.

The premier said that it was not desirable to say anything more at the moment than that all appropriate steps were being taken to deal with the Irish rebellion and those responsible for it.

Asked whether the rebels would be tried by court martial or by a civil tribunal, the premier stated that he had

O'REILLY'S BODY FOUND

Rebel Leader Believed to Have Been Shot While Attempting to Escape From Postoffice

LONDON, May 4.—The O'Reilly, one of the rebel leaders, is believed to have been shot while attempting to escape from the Dublin postoffice, according to the Dublin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., who, telegraphing on Wednesday, says that O'Reilly's body has been found in Moore lane, near the postoffice building.

There were some disturbances in the southwest of Ireland on Tuesday in which some casualties occurred, the correspondent adds, but the rest of the country is quiet.

IRELAND NOW QUIET

LONDON, May 4.—"The situation in Ireland is quiet," says an official statement issued last evening. "The collection of arms and the arrest of fugitive rebels is progressing satisfactorily. A strict cordon is still maintained. The police barracks at Oranmore, about seven miles east of Galway, was attacked by a party of rebels but held out until relieved. "West Riding of Galway"—The situation is well in hand. The rebels have dispersed.

The south of Ireland is quiet. Steady progress is being made toward the restoration of normal conditions. "The situation in Ulster is normal."

CASE OF IRISH REBELS

Mr. Redmond Pleads for Leniency—Sec. Birrell's Statement—Ginnell Denounces the Government

LONDON, May 4.—Laurence Ginnell, member for the North Division of Westmeath, who follows the leadership of no party, greeted the announcement of the premier in the house of commons that some of the leaders of the Irish rebellion had been shot, with the cry of "Atout!" For some minutes he prevented Augustine Birrell from making a personal statement, and gave notice that he would move a resolution calling attention to the shooting of "innocent men by this Hunnish government."

Mr. Birrell's Statement
Mr. Birrell, when he got a hearing, said he would have an opportunity as a private member of taking part in the debate on the Irish rebels.

He candidly admitted that he had made an untrue estimate of the Sinn Féin movement and the possibility of disturbances such as had occurred in Dublin, especially in respect to the mode of warfare which had been pursued and the desperate folly displayed by the leaders and their dupes. Therefore, at the moment he learned from General Sir John Maxwell that the insurrection had been quelled, he placed his resignation in the hands of the prime minister and it had been accepted.

He wished to say to his critics that the error, which he acknowledged and which had been of great and terrible consequences, had not proceeded from any lack of thought, consideration or anxiety. From the outbreak of the war he took it to be his duty to maintain unbroken and unimpaired, if possible, the position of Ireland as a whole to the common foe. In that hope and aim he had been gallantly assisted by Mr. Redmond. He thought of nothing else, cared for nothing else, wished for nothing else.

It had been said in the house, continued the former secretary, that Ireland was to be the bright spot in the empire in the hour of the country's dire necessity. He hoped it might even yet still be said to be so. He was well aware of the difficulties of the situation and knew Ireland well enough to know that there was much which could give cause for great anxiety. He knew, the difficulties were great and the task was a big one. He considered it to be his duty to run great risks in order to maintain in Ireland peace and order and to keep Ireland well within the boundaries of her soil.

Mr. Birrell said that when he viewed the smoking ruins of Dublin and the ruins of his own ambitions there was one sad hope in his heart—that this was no Irish rebellion and that new bonds of union might be forged. He hoped that some measure of good might come out of this great evil.

The prime minister, in making note of Mr. Birrell's statement, said that, without prejudging the decision which might ultimately be taken, he was sure the house had heard Mr. Birrell not without emotion and sympathy, and he assured Mr. Birrell, that he possessed in a peculiar degree the affection of all his colleagues.

Redmond Pleads for Leniency

John Redmond said that the whole business in Ireland had been to him a misery and a heartbreak. He paid warm tribute to Mr. Birrell. He felt that he himself had incurred some of the blame which Mr. Birrell had laid at his own door.

The nationalist leader concurred in the view that the danger of an outbreak was not a real one, and perhaps what he had said in conversation might have influenced Mr. Birrell.

While approving the vigorous quelling of the rebellion, Mr. Redmond begged the government to not show undue harshness to the great mass of "unfortunate dupes involved."

MICHIGAN COAL MINES

The production of coal in Michigan in 1915 was 1,156,133 short tons, valued at $2,372,761. In 1914 it was 1,383,050 tons, valued at $2,553,181. The average value per ton in 1915 was 2.05 cents greater than in 1914 and exceeds any record for the state in recent years. Coal consumption in Michigan is increasing every year, but coal from other states supplies a large part of this market, and the decrease in output in the coal fields of the state, which amounted to 238,922 tons, is attributed by the United States geological survey to this cause.

There were 2569 men employed in the coal mines of the state in 1915 and they worked for an average of 193 days. In 1914 the number of employees was 2800, and the average number of days each man worked was 201.

The Hard-Headed Business Man

Insists on a high degree of "fitness" in his employees.

That means proper co-ordination between brain and body, and for its best realization there must be care in the matter of food.

A well-balanced diet is essential, one easily digestible and rich in nerve-building material. Very often the result of improper food is seen in indigestion, "brain-fag," nervousness and general inefficiency.

Grape-Nuts

a delicious food made of whole wheat and malted barley, is admirably adapted for brain workers; for included in its rich nutriment, are the vital mineral elements—phosphate of potash, etc., grown by Nature in the grains.

These mineral elements are absolutely essential to well-balanced bodies, brains and nerves, but are often lacking in much of the food that goes to make up the usual dietary.

A daily ration of Grape-Nuts along with other food is just the thing to put one in fine fettle.

NESMITH ESTATE

New Hampshire Seeks Authority to Accept $80,000 for Property

CAMBRIDGE, May 4.—The state of New Hampshire, through Gov. Rollins H. Spaulding, appeared as plaintiff in a bill in equity filed in the supreme court here today, which seeks to obtain a cash settlement for property in Lowell, bequeathed to New Hampshire by the will of John Nesmith of that city. The latter gave the property valued at $60,000 to the state to be used for the benefit of the indigent blind of New Hampshire. The state, according to the bill has been unable properly to administer the property and seeks authority to accept an offer of $80,000 in cash made by the trustees of the Nesmith estate.

IN SUPERIOR COURT

VERDICTS RENDERED IN BOSTON & MAINE CASE—SUIT AGAINST BOSTON ELEVATED RAILROAD

The case of Harry J. Swanson vs. Harry Pollard, an action of tort by which the plaintiff seeks to recover for alleged damages to his automobile in a collision with the defendant's auto, which went to trial yesterday at the civil session of the superior court, was taken from the jury late yesterday afternoon and a verdict was rendered for the defendant.

The next case on was a double suit, one of the Metz Co. vs. the Boston & Maine railroad and the other was that of the Frontier Iron Works Co. vs. the Metz Co. In the first case the plaintiff company claimed that the railroad failed to deliver to the company's plant 674 rough castings, which had been shipped by the Frontier Iron Works Co. while in the second case the Frontier Iron Works Co. sued to recover payment from the Metz Co. for the said castings. The jury reported a verdict of $244.10 in the first case, and $289.50 in the second.

At the opening of this morning's session the case of Martin Conley of Cambridge vs. the Boston Elevated Co., an action of tort in the sum of $2000, was started. In this case the plaintiff claims that on Sept. 20, 1914, his wife, Kate Conley, was severely injured owing to the negligence of a servant of the company in the operation of a turnstile through which the woman was passing while entering the Central Square station in Cambridge, said station being in the care of the defendant company. The wife of the plaintiff, it is claimed, has died since the accident, but there is no allegation that death was due to the accident. The Boston Elevated Co. in its answer denies each and all allegations, and states that the wife of the plaintiff was not exercising due care when the accident occurred.

POLICE COURT SESSION

MEN FINED FOR OBSTRUCTING THE SIDEWALK AT THE WATERHEAD MILLS

Varian Manogian and Apisogham Sokigian, two of the strikers at the Waterhead mills in Lawrence street, were arrested by Patrolmen Mark Sullivan and Wallace this morning about 6.30 o'clock while attempting to prevent people from walking through the sidewalk towards the mill. They were sent to the police station where they were charged with obstructing the sidewalk.

The arresting officers during the course of their testimony stated that there were about 100 people in the vicinity of the plant about 5.30 o'clock and that the defendants were trying to prevent people from walking into the mill yard. The defendants were warned on several occasions not to obstruct the sidewalk, according to the officers, and they refused to obey the orders.

One of the defendants, it was stated, had a stick in his hand, but upon the approach of the officers he placed it under a log. The stick, which was about three feet long was produced in court.

The defendants denied that they were in the way or doing any harm, but the court found the pair guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $120. Judge Enright, through an interpreter, told the men that while they had a perfect right to strike if they saw fit, they had no right to obstruct the sidewalk or prevent others from going to work. Both appealed.

Other Cases

John Platt entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with failing to provide proper support for his three children since the first of the year. Upon promising to do better in the future he was placed in the custody of the probation officer for six months.

A number of drunks were variously disposed of.

HAFFER GUILTY

Convicted of Libelling the Memory of George Washington

TACOMA, Wash., May 4.—A verdict of guilty was returned last night by a superior court jury that for four days had been sitting in the trial of Paul H. Haffer of this city, accused of libelling the memory of George Washington. The maximum penalty for the offense, under a state statute, is one year in the county jail, a fine of $1000 or both.

Col. Albert R. Joub, an attorney, caused Haffer's arrest after the latter had sent a letter to a newspaper referring to Washington as a "blasphemous," "slave holder" and "invertebrate drinker."

WATERWAYS COMMITTEE

The following communications having to do with protection of waterways in the city of Lowell have been forwarded the mayor by the committee on waterways:

Lowell, Mass., May 3, 1916.
Hon. James J. O'Donnell, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Mr. Mayor:

We are in receipt of a letter from the agent of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. in reply to a recent letter from this committee in relation to the unsafe places along the Merrimack canal. We are pleased to report to you, the courteous, satisfactory and public-spirited attitude Mr. Wadleigh has manifested in this matter by volunteering to remedy the situation.

We herewith enclose a copy of Mr. Wadleigh's letter.

Very truly yours,
Jackson Palmer,
Harry W. J. Howe,
Frank A. Warnock.

Merrimack Manufacturing Company, Lowell, Mass., May 3, 1916.
Mr. Jackson Palmer,
Mr. Harry W. J. Howe,
Mr. Frank A. Warnock.

Gentlemen:—I have your letter of April 29th regarding approaches to foot bridge on Anne and Canal streets and also fence along the canal, Dutton street side.

The approaches to the canal bridge we had in mind to fix immediately. We had been intended to in the fall but rush of other work prevented our going ahead. As to the fence on Dutton street we have postponed action on this from year to year as we expected the Locks and Canals would renew the wall, raising it about one foot. It was our intention then to put in an iron fence that would correspond to the Anne street fence. However, as there is no immediate prospect of a new wall, we will arrange for a suitable wire fence to be about four and one-half feet high.

We are perfectly willing to co-operate with you in any way you may deem advisable to prevent the loss of life of children from drowning in our canal. If you do not think a four and one-half foot fence is the proper thing, we will arrange to build it differently.

Yours truly,
J. C. Wadleigh, Agent.

CONSERVATION CONGRESS

DELEGATES FACE QUESTION ON WATER POWER SITES

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Delegates to the national conservation congress, in session here today, faced a threatened fight over the question of whether the body will maintain its opposition to removing from public ownership any undeveloped water power sites in the country. The majority report of the water power committee, ready for presentation, recommended endorsement of the Shields bill, while the minority report urged condemnation of the measure. This bill would authorize the secretary of war to permit private interests to construct dams in navigable streams and operate power plants for 50 years. At the expiration of that time the plants might be purchased by the government.

At its last meeting, three years ago, the conservation congress became involved in a similar dispute, which ended in a victory for the opponents of the proposal that the government give up its ownership of water sites. Clifford Pinchot led the winning fight at that time and the same element was behind the minority committee report today.

The report of the forestry committee also presented today pointed out that in case of war great quantities of wood pulp and resin would be used in the manufacture of explosives and surgical supplies.

The report recommended that the government adopt a permanent policy of acquiring land "in the Appalachian region by purchase and the western forests by consolidation and extension, wherever possible, through the exchange of timber for privately owned land and inclusion of the remaining timbered domain." The most wealthy and progressive states, municipalities and private corporations of semi-public nature should set an example in acquisition and cultivation of forests, the report suggested.

INVESTIGATION OF L. & N. FAITH IN PEACE SHAKEN

CORRESPONDENCE SAID TO HAVE PASSED BETWEEN R. R. HEADS TO DIVIDE SOUTH

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Correspondence purporting to have passed between William H. Smith, president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and the late Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railway, relating to an alleged agreement to divide the south between the two roads, was introduced by counsel for the Interstate commerce commission at today's investigation of the Louisville & Nashville's affairs.

In the correspondence the writers likened themselves to Cortes and Pizarro, who, conquerors of a new world, met to divide it, one agreeing to take North America, the other South America, neither to touch the Isthmus and unable to agree on Pata-gonia.

President Smith of the Louisville & Nashville said he remembered no such correspondence and characterized it as "rot." President Smith declined to answer any question concerning campaign contributions by the railroad to political parties or candidates. He refused, on advice of his counsel, who held that the commission had no authority to make such inquiries, under the senate resolution directing the investigation.

Joseph W. Folk, chief counsel for the commission, announced the commission would appeal to the courts to compel Mr. Smith to tell all it sought to learn about the road's contributions.

Mr. Folk asked the witness if freight and passenger rates might not be affected by campaign contributions.

"Not the slightest," said Mr. Smith. Before his counsel's commission he Mr. Smith knew how much the L. & N. contributed to campaign funds last year.

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not constipate, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping in the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—stiff headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant relief from Olive Tablets.

MAN WANTED FOR THE KILLING OF GEORGE A. PETTIS AND DAUGHTER FOUND HEAVILY ARMED IN SHED AT THOMPSON, CONN.

THOMPSON, Conn., May 4.—John Elliott, a farm hand, sought for two days by posers as the alleged murderer of Miss Sybil Pettis, a school teacher, and her father, George A. Pettis of this town, was captured here early today. A farmer, Roland Mills, found the man heavily armed, in his carriage shed, where he had sought shelter from the rain.

Elliott was captured about a mile and a half from the scene of the shooting. He was in a very weak and exhausted condition, and made no effort to resist arrest. He was apparently in a stupor when Mills discovered him. The latter ran to a neighbor's house about a quarter of a mile away and notified Deputy Sheriff William P. Bates, who took Elliott into custody.

He was accompanied by several armed men. Elliott's eyes were nearly closed, and he was cut about the face and head, indicating, it was thought, that he may have had a struggle with Pettis before shooting him. He was apparently suffering from exposure and lack of food. It is now believed that at no time was he very far away, but has made no statement of any kind.

When arrested Elliott had on him two automatic revolvers and one of an ordinary type, between fifty and sixty rounds of ammunition and a small sum of money.

The shooting of Miss Pettis and her father occurred Tuesday at the Pettis home. Mrs. Pettis, a witness of the double killing, said Elliott shot her husband and then her daughter with whom he was infatuated. When Mrs. Pettis pleaded that her life be spared, Elliott, she said, expressed sorrow for his act. Friends of Miss Pettis said she had shown the farm hand much kindness but never had encouraged his attentions. Elliott for some time had been employed at the Pettis home.

Elliott was arraigned before the justice of the police here later on charges of murder and was ordered held for the grand jury. Physicians said the prisoner probably would not live to stand trial, as there were indications of a compound fracture of the skull.

Elliott said his mind was a blank regarding what happened after his fight with Pettis.

SPECIALTIES MADE MATERIAL ADVANCES—DULL LATER—CLOSING WEAK

NEW YORK, May 4.—Specialties of the war, such as explosives, dynamite, canons, munitions, shipping shares and the distilling issues, scored material gains in the first half hour of today's moderate trading. Industrial Alingo was the foremost feature, rising over 5 points with 2 for Mexican Petroleum and 1 to almost 2 for Crucible Steel, Baldwin and American Locomotives and Studebaker. Amoco also rose a point and the Marines made partial recovery for yesterday's heavy loss with large dealings in the preferred. Reading and New York Central improved, but Canadian Pacific was fractionally lower.

Gains were generally forfeited before the end of the first hour and in some notable instances substantial losses were substituted. The reversal was traceable to weakness of the Marines and selling of other active stocks occasioned by adverse rumors regarding the Berlin situation. Marine preferred and common, yielded 2 1/2 and 3 1/2 respectively from their early maximums, the decline resulting, presumably, from wide opposition to the readjustment plan of the preferred shareholders' committee. Later these losses were partly retrieved, with further advances for Mexicans, while United Fruit rose 3 points. Bonds were steady.

United Fruit was almost the sole feature of the stagnant mid-session, adding to its foreign advance on numerous small transactions. Among more important shares, including Union Pacific and Steel, the trend was lower. Lower quotations were registered in the last hour, prices sagging under the influence of fresh selling. The closing was weak.

It's ridiculous that the people of Lowell would stand for the slow progress that is being made on that bridge. It interferes with two of the busiest car lines in the city and unless the company is made to get a move on, the job will not be completed before the snow flies. There isn't another city in the country that would stand for it, but railroads don't seem to take Lowell very seriously."

THE SPELLBINDER

The election of Hon. George E. Putnam to succeed John J. Mulaney, as licensee, commissioner, puts an end to a contest that has been considerable interest since the present administration went into office. At the beginning of the year there was a strong sentiment favoring a French-American citizen for the position, and elective bodies were ever susceptible to a strong sentiment, but immediately a number, half a dozen or more, including Mr. Fay, who was chairman of the French-American executive political committee, entered the field. As the weeks went by, the contest waged hot between the several French-American candidates and, although meetings were held for the purpose of effecting a compromise and settling upon one name to present to the municipal council, as the unanimous choice of the French-American constituency, no agreement could be made and each candidate fought for his own interests, and against those of his compatriots, with the inevitable result that in the end none of them was any stronger. Assuming that the municipal council was agreeable to the election of a French-American candidate, its members were in a quandary for they could elect only one, while half a dozen, each with a strong following, continued to importune them, and they could not vote for one without making enemies of the others. Thus, it would appear they took the easiest way out of the dilemma by selecting another candidate. Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioner Duncan each voted for a French-American candidate on two ballots. Many were confident early in the year that Chairman Mulaney would succeed him, but within a few past weeks it had been common talk that a new man would be elected, and the wisecracker "doped" the right candidate. In the past former Senator Putnam has been frequently mentioned as a possibility for a position on the board, though this will be his first experience as a member.

Since the election there has been a claim made that partisan politics entered into the matter, and that the republican city committee was behind Mr. Putnam's candidacy. But such evidently was not the case, for Commissioner Morse, a staunch republican and former member of the republican city committee, voted steadfastly for Mr. Mulaney, while two democrats, Mayor O'Donnell and Mr. Donnelly, voted for Senator Putnam on the final ballot, so that the division was not along party lines. Commissioner Mulaney was a visitor at city hall yesterday afternoon, a few hours after the vote had been taken.

Water Department Expenses

Commissioner Putnam is doing some close figuring these days to ascertain how he is doing to make both ends meet in the water department, under present conditions. The water department uses its own revenues for its support, and at the present time is not self-supporting, a fact for which Commissioner Mulaney, however, is in no way responsible. Within the past two years a great amount of money has been borrowed for permanent improvements in this department, as a result of which its fixed charges have been increased between $20,000 and $25,000 per year, by the necessitated annual payments on principal and interest. The money, to be sure, was borrowed for a good purpose, and the city is the beneficiary in the end, while the last of the big payments will be made in 1920, after which time the department will be much less expensive.

A Centralville Protest

The residents of Centralville are much dissatisfied with street car conduct. "Jerey," who runs the Chelmsford street bridge job caused a change in the running time, and The Spellbinder has received a communication from them asking his aid in an attempt to convince the street railway authorities that for public convenience and necessity they should run the Boston line, which under the new schedule go only to the 12th turnout, so-called, to the 19th street turnout, daily, between the hours of noon and 5 p.m., and they advance the following reasons:

1. That the traffic is heaviest between 12th and 15th streets.
2. That the bridge is not used that all cars, either outward or inward bound, very rarely pass 15th street without taking on or letting off passengers.
3. That the cars now have to wait at the 12th turnout a number of minutes in order to make up time, and would have ample time to go to the 13th street turnout if passengers were not taken on.
4. Up to 12th street the residents have the advantage of using the Christian Hill car line, which extends to the junction of Methuen and Beacon streets (near 12th), while the residents living beyond 12th street have to depend solely upon the regular Bridge street cars.
5. The North Chelmsford cars, now running to the Centre, greatly inconvenience the working people at noon, for the reason that they run on different schedule time than the Boston cars, and as a result many have to stay in town for their lunches.
6. That 12th street is less than 15 minutes' walk from Merrimack square, and that many residents living between the said square and 12th street prefer to walk that short distance, unless their time is limited.
7. That it is around 18th, Ludlum and Boynton streets, Whittney avenue, Eastville street, that many houses have been built within the past few years, and the residents increasing.

To Relieve Newton Plant

Owing to the extent of the proposition involved in the Oakland sewer problem, Commissioner Morse has decided that he will not attempt to head the work unless a special appropriation for that purpose is voted. There is sufficient regular work ahead to take all of his $10,000 appropriation for sewer construction during the year, and he does not desire to start on the Oakland matter unless he has a sufficient amount to carry it through to completion. But that doesn't mean that he will do nothing to relieve the conditions in that section for he has evolved a plan to furnish temporary relief at a comparatively small cost. It was the intention of Commissioner Morse, earlier in the year, to establish a new filter bed that would take care of the sewage from the plant of the Newton Mill Co., and from the other plants, to be located on these plants to a proposed new filter plant. But in the meantime as the force of employees at the Newton plant has steadily multiplied, the increased amount of sewage entering into Pratt's brook at Phoenix avenue has caused a nuisance, that requires immediate action, and hence Commissioner Morse has decided to install a temporary filter plant near the municipal plant which will retain the sludge, or settle matter, permitting only the filtered effluent to enter the brook as an overflow. This will greatly reduce the objectionable feature of the present arrangement and will take care of the situation until such time as the city is ready to proceed with the entire work. This temporary plant will be installed at once, and will cost but a few hundred dollars.

DEVOTY IN WELAND PLOT

No Telephone Inquiry Now—The House Votes Down Investigation Plan—Company Attacked

BOSTON, May 4.—The Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday accepted the adverse report of the committee on mercantile affairs on the resolution for a general telephone investigation after long debate. A motion to substitute the resolve for the adverse report was first made by Mr. Mildram of Boston, who also moved for postponement until today. Postponement was refused by a roll-call vote of 61 yeas to 147 nays, and substitution was refused by a roll-call vote of 65 yeas to 143 nays. There were five yeas on the latter vote.

Mr. Mildram made a fierce attack on the company and its methods and said that if the companies were let alone they would give better service than if they were harassed by investigations. Mr. Odell declared the public service commission "moribund" and not to be trusted to conduct any investigation.

Aimed Delinquents' Bill

Mr. Cummings of Boston said the company was averse to investigation. He supposed that the measure had no chance and that the matter would be "railroaded through" not to investigate.

Speaker Cox rapped him to order and said that the chair respected if the house did not see the reflection which he made upon the members.

The house debated at great length the so-called "Delinquent Children's" bill. An amendment of Mr. Fitzgerald of Boston to give the district attorney the power to dispose of such cases was rejected. The house adopted, however, an amendment offered by Mr. Sullivan of Boston to provide for the first commitment of a juvenile "may be for a period of not over three months."

Reports on Committees

These committee reports were received:

Metropolitan affairs—Ought not to pass resolve for investigation relative to construction of bridge from Adams square in Boston to vicinity of Mather square in East Boston; leave to withdraw report for appointment of a board of maintenance of Wellington bridge; leave to withdraw petition for elevated station near Charles and Cambridge streets.

Municipal finance—Bill to authorize Swampscott to borrow $10,000 for playground.

Roads and bridges—Resolve for investigation by highway and metropolitan park commissions, regarding highway in Somerville from Broadway park to Cambridge, near Columbus street.

Mercantile affairs—Bill to incorporate Benjamin A. Ham, John E. Gillman, John D. Billings and others as "Grand Army Memorial building association."

Street railways—Bill relative to the repair of streets, highways and bridges by street railway companies.

To Investigate Salaries

In the state senate yesterday a resolve providing for an examination by the governor and council of salaries and other compensation paid by the state and the several counties was passed to be engrossed.

Substitute for an adverse committee report of a bill to prohibit an employer to use as a defense against suits for injuries to employees the assertion that the employee had assumed the risk of the injury voluntarily, contractually, or otherwise, failed by a rising vote, 5 to 13.

Consideration of the adverse report on the state health department's milk bill was postponed until today.

The bill to authorize the licensing by cities and towns of motor vehicles carrying passengers for hire, with an amendment striking out the referendum clause and providing for the taking effect July 1 next, was passed to be engrossed and sent to the House under suspension of the rules.

The bill to authorize street railway companies to operate jitney lines was ordered to a third reading.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful all that is required.

It cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Belief Expressed That England Will Release Men and Disavow Act

LONDON, May 4.—The belief is expressed in neutral diplomatic circles that the British foreign office will order the release of the Austrian sailors seized on board the Austrian steamer China while on her way from Shanghai to San Francisco on Feb. 19 last, but also will disavow the action of the captain of the auxiliary cruiser Laurente in making the seizure.

Although the latest American note refuses to discuss the actual movements of the seized passengers or their plottings, it is known that the attention of the British authorities has been called to the fact that those arrested, although en route to Manila, could not have reached that port on board the China but would have been compelled to transship at Nagasaki, where they would have been within the jurisdiction of Japan, England's ally; and that therefore, the seizure not only was unjustifiable but unnecessary.

The United States government takes the attitude that the seizure was an exact parallel to the case of the Trent.

Against "Woman's Party"

NEW YORK, May 4.—The opposition of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, leader of the National American Woman Suffrage association, to the formation of a "woman's party" was announced today in a statement issued at the headquarters of the association.

"The minute we make suffrage a party issue," said Dr. Shaw, "we lose our friends in the party that is to be 'disciplined' and we cannot afford to do that. It takes a two-thirds majority in congress to pass any federal amendment and no party has a chance of doing so since 1853. Consequently it is up to us to maintain a strictly non-partisan attitude."

THE INDUSTRIAL AUDITOR

MEN OF FIRST TRINITARIAN CHURCH HEAR MR. GREGG ON INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS

Richard B. Gregg, junior member of the firm of Valentine, Tead and Gregg, of New York and Boston, "The Industrial Auditor," gave an interesting lecture before the Brotherhood of the First Trinitarian church last night. He spoke on scientific study of industrial conditions particularly as the human element is brought into them. He said in part:

"I have just been organizing a personal department in a large textile concern in Rhode Island, to handle questions of conditions and jurisdiction. A drunken teamster left and demanded his wages, declaring that if discharged he would get his money and that he might get a job 50 miles away where he could not come back to get his envelope. I saw to it that the man was paid and that the rule of the company was changed so that the company should depend on attractiveness of job to keep its men, rather than on fear of not getting their wages."

"The focus of interest of manufacturers has been on machinery and scientific routing and planning. The textile show in Boston concerned almost entirely the machines, and not the human labor element."

"The human nature of the employees has not been considered, it seems to me. It is true the employee may appear dull, shiftless, heavy, ambitious, and hopeless; but when you get to know him and that he has an ambition, although it may not be the same one you have. He has love of home, and he shows a sensitiveness to certain things. He reacts to his treatment and surroundings. If he is treated roughly he is very apt to respond in kind. If he is spoken to harshly he very apt to return in language of the same sort. If the employer is disregarding of his feelings, then he will be equally disregarding of the employer's feelings."

"A man can't do his best work under poor conditions; he can't become tremendously excited over his job if he knows there are conditions of danger about him, which might easily be remedied. It isn't a matter of philanthropy to put him into a clean, well-lighted, sanitary workshop, and to give him good drinking water and a clean place in which to hang his clothing. It is the part of being human to recognize that a piece of common humanity to do so."

"Study should be made of every job, to learn what kind of mental and physical qualities it demands. Scientific work is needed along this particular line."

"And then there is the monotonous job, and there are many of them. Employers are beginning to learn that nothing so poisons an employee as to put him on a job which is one of deadly routine. They will invent machines to do away with the more monotonous parts of that job, or if that cannot be done, they will associate the monotonous work with something which varies the monotony. A man is a man, and a human being, and monotony kills all interest in work. There are some of the things which the future is going to do, and which employers have not to come to. There are many hundred little points to be settled, and they have all got to be settled on the basis of the human element in labor."

At the annual business meeting of the Brotherhood the following officers were chosen: President, Lawrence K. Ter; vice-president, Orrin Ranlett, 23;

Responsible for Short Lives, Declares Dr. Hartzell at Convention in Boston

BOSTON, May 4.—"Dentistry as a profession is shortening human life today," said Dr. Thomas B. Hartzell, of Minneapolis, to an astonished gathering of nearly a thousand dentists at the Copley-Plaza last night. "This may not be palpable, but it is nevertheless true," he continued.

"The dentists of this country must realize that they have in their power to prevent not less than 15 per cent of bedridden cases that enter the hospitals. Many diseases—and many of them are fatal—are caused by abscesses of the teeth."

Germs in Root Canals

Explaining his charges against the profession, Dr. Hartzell declared that in filling root canals where the tooth has had an abscess or some other infection, it is often true that the germs are forced ahead of the filling into the root. These germs, he added, and their way into the blood and cause diseases.

He then gave a list of diseases caused by dental abscesses and showed actual photographs to prove his contention. This list included: St. Vitus dance, rheumatism, heart disease, kidney trouble, trinitis, very neck, high blood pressure and fallen arches.

"Thousands of investigations have been conducted and are showing that dentists have got to realize their responsibility and recognize the danger of abscesses," said the speaker. His address was one of several papers that were read to dentists who had come from all parts of Massachusetts to attend the 32d annual convention of their dental society.

New Officers Chosen

The convention will continue through tomorrow night. Clinics will be established at the Forsyth Dental infirmary tomorrow morning for the purpose of revealing new discoveries in dental surgery. At the opening session held at the Forsyth infirmary yesterday morning these officers were chosen for the year:

President, Dr. Harold C. Cleveland, Springfield; first vice president, Dr. Frank T. Taylor, Boston; second vice president, Dr. Geo. C. Almsworth, Boston; secretary, Dr. John A. Furbush, Boston; assistant secretary, Dr. Albert W. Day, Worcester; treasurer, Dr. Joseph T. Paul, Boston; editor, Dr. C. E. Abbott of Franklin.

In his farewell address the retiring president, Charles M. Proctor of Boston, paid tribute to Massachusetts dentists who were working in dental hospitals on the battle front in France. He predicted that their experiences in treating wounds of the face and jaw will serve as an impetus to surgery and benefit all humanity.

MAN GOLDSTEIN, 155 Chalmers St. Tel. 2391

Editor of Gaelic-American Mentioned in Indictments of Von Papen and Von Igel

NEW YORK, May 4.—John Devoy, editor of the Gaelic-American, and John T. Ryan, a Buffalo attorney, were mentioned in superseding indictments handed down here yesterday by the federal grand jury which investigated the alleged German plot to blow up the Welland canal. The men were not indicted, but are alleged to have had cognizance of the conspiracy.

Devoy, a leader in this country in the movement for Irish independence, issued a statement saying he would answer the charge editorially in his newspaper.

The new indictments go into the details of the plot, and for the first time in pro-German conspiracy cases, state that it was aimed to assist the German emperor.

The indictments are against Captain Franz von Papen, recalled German military attaché, Wolf von Igel, his then secretary, Capt. Hans Tauscher, agent of the Krupp in the United States, and husband of Mme. Gaskel, the opera singer; Alfred A. Fritzen and Constantine Covani.

Von Igel and Capt. Tauscher are the only ones under arrest. They will be rearrested probably tomorrow. Named as co-conspirators for the first time, but not indicted, are Horst von Goltz, former major in the army of Villa and a confessed spy; Carl Tuchen, alias Tucker, and Frederick Jochim Busse. These three disclosed the details of the conspiracy to the federal grand jury, and have been granted immunity in return for their willingness to appear as government witnesses.

Tuchen and von Goltz are being detained at Ellis Island, while Busse is being kept in seclusion by federal agents.

The indictments allege that the plot was a purely commercial enterprise, and the aim of the defendants was the obstruction of the military operations of the king of Great Britain and Ireland and the furthering of the military operations of the emperor of Germany by means of bombs, dynamite and other explosives to blow up the Welland canal, the Canadian waterway.

The charge is made that Captain von Papen, von Igel and Captain Tauscher furnished the initiative and funds for the expedition, and that Fritzen and Covani were to have been the prepetrators, with the assistance of five other men, "German subjects," engaged by von Goltz in Baltimore, in August, 1914.

The leaders, the indictments state, furnished the others with automatic revolvers, ammunition, bombs, dynamite and other explosives.

The accusation is repeated that Capt. Tauscher purchased from the local office of the du Pont Powder company 300 pounds of "sixty percent" dynamite, to have been used in the work of destruction, and that the explosive was obtained by von Goltz on Tauscher's written order.

Fritzen, Covani and the others left this city for Buffalo on Sept. 1, 1914, it is charged, to carry out the enterprise. A payment of $200 to von der Goltz by Capt. von Papen on Sept. 1, 1914, it is charged, furnished the money for the trip.

The indictment states that after the arrival of the party in Buffalo, von der Goltz attempted to obtain additional funds from John T. Ryan, an attorney, alleged to have been the agent of von Igel.

Ryan was suspicious and would not assist von der Goltz until he could produce proper credentials. It is asserted, von der Goltz notified von Igel of the situation, the government charges, and in getting in touch with Devoy, through whom, it is alleged, he communicated with Ryan.

As a result, the indictments state, Devoy sent the following telegram to Ryan at his office in Buffalo, on Sept. 16, 1914:

"Early who called is all right. I gave you my address. Do all you can for him. Identify him at telegraph office. I will be responsible. Imperfect introduction due to my brother's death and hurry."

Ryan, on the receipt of the telegram, the indictment states, gave von der Goltz $400. This money, was, the agents of von Goltz, used to invade Canadian territory, the government charges, for the purpose of carrying out "a military enterprise."

The government alleges its case is strengthened by the fact that all the indicted men are on the rolls of the German imperial army.
